1 Read

A. Discuss.

- Do you talk with your friends on the phone a lot?
- What do you talk about?
- Do you think having a mobile helps you make plans when going out?

1 ►► 02 B. Look at the last picture and guess. Why do you think Bill, Stu, Amy and Liv are surprised to see each other? Listen to the dialogues and check your answers. Then read them out in groups.

Bill Hello, Stu!

Stu Hi, how's it going?

Bill Fine.

Stu Do you want to do something? Maybe come round my house or...

Bill Sorry, I'm a bit busy with my ICT project at the moment.

Stu I finished mine yesterday. What are you doing tonight?

Bill Nothing much, why?

Stu Let's go to the cinema.

Bill Sure, why not? Let's ring Liv and Amy and ask them to come along.

Stu I can't get hold of them.

Bill What do you mean?

Stu Well, I think Amy's phone is broken and Liv isn't answering.

Bill That's strange. Oh well, maybe next time.

Liv Hello?

Amy Hi, Liv. What are you up to?

Liv I'm looking for my mobile.

Amy Now I get it. That's why you aren't answering your phone.

Liv Yeah, I can't find it. I think it's in my dad's car, but he's not home.

Amy Your phone's lost and mine is broken. What are we like?

Liv I know.

Amy Listen, do you fancy going to the cinema?

Liv That would be great.

Amy How about asking Bill and Stu to come?

Liv I'm not sure. They rarely go to the cinema and anyway, they've got projects to do, I think.

Amy You're right. OK, let's meet there at eight o'clock.

C. Look at the expressions 1-7 from the dialogues and match them with the meanings a-g.

- | | |
|------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| 1. How's it going? | a. What's wrong with us? |

2 Grammar

Present Simple vs Present Continuous

- When my friends come round my house, we usually play computer games. But today, we're playing football in the garden.
- A: Are you coming with us to the stadium tomorrow? The match starts at 3.00.
B: No, sorry, I don't want to come. I hate football.

NOTE STATIVE VERBS (see, like, love, hate, want, need, understand, know, etc.) are not usually used in the Present Continuous.

Complete with the Present Simple or the Present Continuous of the verbs in brackets.

- Gavin rarely _____ (use) his computer to surf the Net. He usually _____ (play) computer games.
He _____ (play) a basketball game at the moment.
He _____ (love) basketball.
- A: Excuse me, Mr Marlenov. Can you help me with this Maths question? I _____ (not understand) it.
B: In a minute. I _____ (help) Murat now.
- A: Tina and I _____ (go) shopping tomorrow. What time _____ that shoe shop on Rose Street _____ (open)?
B: At nine o'clock. And it _____ (close) at 5.30.

3 Listen

1 ►► 03 A. Listen to three people talking on the phone. What's the main topic of the conversation? Choose picture a, b or c.

TIP! Listen for key words to understand the main ideas. Don't try to understand every single word.

1 ►► 04 B. Listen again and circle the correct answer.

1. Fay / Rob has got a new mobile number.
2. Fay / Rob is in a band.
3. The concert is on Friday / Saturday.
4. Fay doesn't like going to concerts / bowling.
5. Rob's band / The school band has made a CD.
6. Fay / Kim didn't want to go to the concert in the beginning.

Do you want to...?
Do you fancy...?
How about...?
Let's...

Sure, why not?
Of course. I'd love to.
Sounds brilliant!
That would be great.
How could I say no?

Sorry, I have other plans.
I'm afraid I'm busy.
Maybe some other time.
No, thanks.
I'd like to come, but...
I'm afraid I can't make it because...

Hi, how's it going?
Not bad.

EXTREME SPORTS FORUM

Ollie

I want to try something new and exciting. Any ideas?

posted 11.22

I'm a great skateboarder and I can do some brilliant tricks, but I need a change.

Airdog

posted 11.33

How about snowboarding? It's like skateboarding but on snow. It's more exciting and it's faster, too. I live in Austria and my friends and I go snowboarding every weekend. It's great fun!

Backflipper

posted 12.14

If that's a bit extreme for you or if there's no snow in your area, take up rollerblading instead. It doesn't sound as exciting as snowboarding but it's easy. You can learn to do cool tricks on rollerblades, too!

Wipeout

posted 12.45

I disagree. That's boring! Do you like water sports? I go surfing with my mates a lot and it's brilliant! It's the oldest board sport and for me it's the best!

Freefaller

posted 14.19

I agree surfing is cool. But can you imagine surfing in the sky? Try the most exciting sport of all. Go skysurfing!

Ollie

posted 14.35

Sounds cool, but is there anything less dangerous than that?

Airdog

posted 15.01

I've got another idea. You can try trampboarding.

Backflipper

posted 15.10

????????? 😬

Wipeout

posted 15.14

???? 😞

Freefaller

posted 15.53

I've tried it. All you need is a skateboard without wheels and a trampoline. You can do all kinds of tricks in the air and it's great because with the trampoline you can jump higher.

Ollie

posted 16.33

Wow, now that's something I'd like to try! Thanks, guys.

copper rivets

JEANS

Jeans are trousers made of denim, and they come in all shapes, colours and sizes. Most people have at least one pair, and in the USA the average person has seven pairs.

The word jeans comes from the French bleu de Gênes, which means the blue of Genoa. This is because denim was made in Genoa and, in the 16th century, sailors used to wear baggy denim trousers.

In the 1850s, Levi Strauss, a German merchant, started selling jeans to mine workers in California. They became popular because denim is a very strong material. However, some parts, like the pockets, used to rip a lot. So copper rivets were added to make them stronger. Jeans have changed very little since then and Levi's jeans are still sold today.

In 1955, James Dean starred in the film Rebel without a Cause wearing blue jeans. Teenagers wanted to copy his style, and jeans became a symbol of youth in the 50s and 60s.

After that, more and more designs and styles came out: flared, torn, baggy, tight, and even stonewashed jeans that looked old. Today almost all fashion designers make their own jeans, and they're very popular.

Jeans are an amazing item of clothing. They match everything and they can be casual or formal wear. Other clothes go in and out of fashion, but jeans are here to stay.

| 4. The things she does that annoy Jane. | <input type="radio"/> | 8. What they don't do together. | <input type="radio"/> |

A new FRIENDSHIP

I met Jane two months ago when she moved next door. She's my age and we go to the same school.

Jane's got a great sense of humour, so she makes me laugh all the time. She's also very kind. She's the one I turn to when I'm upset because she always tries to cheer me up. However, Jane can be annoying sometimes. The most annoying thing about her is that she's stubborn. When she makes a decision, she never changes her mind.

Jane and I spend our free time together because we have the same interests. We are both into R&B and we love singing karaoke. Jane is also good at dancing, so she's going to teach me some cool dance moves.

I like hanging out with Jane because we get along well and have lots of fun together. She isn't perfect, but I know I can always rely on her.

1 ►► 16 A. Look at the pictures and the title. Which pieces of clothing do you think the text will mention? Listen, read and check your answers. 🎧

Traditional Kazakh clothing

The traditional clothes that the ancient people of Kazakhstan used to wear reflect their nomadic way of life. Their clothes had to be suitable for horse riding and for different weather conditions. The Kazakh people used cotton, fur and leather to make these clothes, which they still wear today for special events.

Traditionally Kazakh men used to wear a shapan, which is a long and comfortable coat with loose-fitting sleeves and a belt at the waist. There were different shapans for formal wear and everyday wear. Today the shapans for special events are made of more luxurious materials such as velvet, and are decorated with golden embroidery.

For the traditional Kazakh woman, one of the most important pieces of clothing was the headdress. In the past, there used to be a huge variety of these head coverings. Each type revealed a woman's age, her place in society, and whether she was single or married. The most impressive of these hats is the female wedding headdress, called a saukele. A saukele has the shape of a cone and is decorated with different types of jewellery.

However, what really makes it special is its height, which can sometimes reach 70 cm. Incredibly, in ancient times, some saukeles were worth around the same amount as 100 horses.

From winter boots to summer sandals, much of the traditional Kazakh footwear is very beautiful. For example, riding boots are made of colourful leather and look amazing. This traditional footwear also has a number of unique characteristics. Some of the designs have pointy, turned-up toes, while others are designed in such a way that they can be worn with comfort on either foot.

B. Read again and answer the questions.

1. What do the traditional clothes of Kazakhstan reflect?
2. What is a shapan?
3. How are some shapans decorated?
4. What did a headdress reveal about a Kazakh woman?
5. According to the text, how much were some saukeles worth in ancient times?
6. What is unique about the design of some traditional Kazakh footwear?

Project

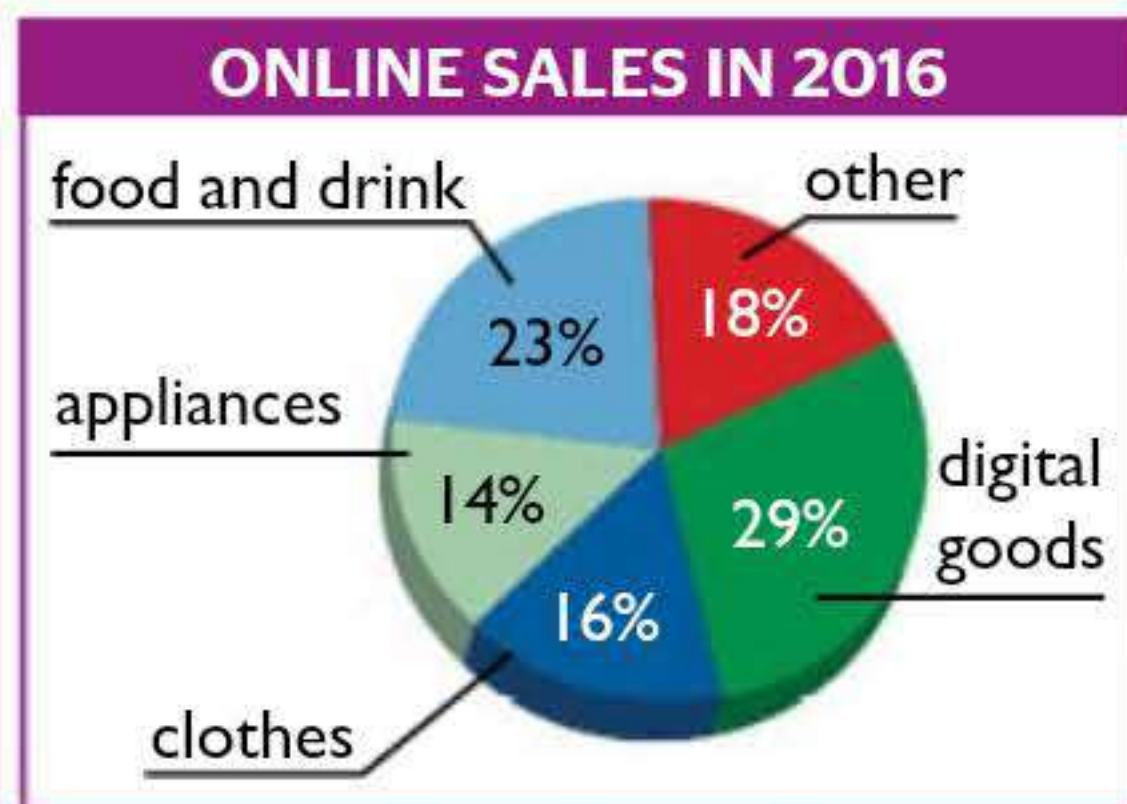

Find information about traditional clothing in another country and present it to the class. Describe the clothing, mention what materials are used, and what the differences are between men's and women's clothing.

1 ►► 17 A. Look at the pie charts below. What topic do you think the text is discussing? Listen, read and check your answers.

B. Now look at the highlighted words in the text and find their definitions in a dictionary.

Online Shopping

Online shopping has become popular mainly because of the convenience and speed it offers. Nowadays, shoppers actually do 51% of all their shopping online. They don't only do their grocery shopping but also buy large household appliances. The two pie charts below show online sales figures for a large shop in the years 2006 and 2016.

By comparing these two pie charts we can see that, from 2006 to 2016, there were several changes to the types of goods which were bought online. In 2006, when online shopping wasn't as popular as it is today, the majority of online purchases were of digital goods, many of which were not available in actual shops. In 2016, the percentage of digital goods sold online was about the same as in 2006 (only 1% higher), but we can see greater changes to the proportions of sales of other goods.

In 2016, the percentage of sales of food and drink was higher than in 2006. This is the biggest increase seen on the pie charts – a rise of 5% from 18-23%. It shows that shoppers were more likely to do their supermarket shopping online than they used to be.

In contrast, online sales of more personal purchases such as clothes dropped from 23% to 16% in the time shown. Appliance sales also dropped by 3%, making up only 17% in 2006 and 14% of all online sales in 2016.

C. Complete the sentences with information from the text or the pie charts.

1. People buy _____ of the items they want online.
2. In 2016, the total percentage of digital goods and appliances sold was _____.
3. Online food and drink sales increased by _____ from 2006 to 2016.
4. Clothes sales dropped to _____ in 2016.
5. In 2006, appliances made up only _____ of online sales.

D. Discuss the following.

- ☛ What kind of things do you usually buy online?
- ☛ Why do you think people choose to buy some goods online but prefer to visit shops for others?

- What do you know about sign language?
- Do you know anyone who uses sign language?

1 ►► 20 B. Look at the first picture. What do you think happened to Amina? Listen to the dialogue and check. Then read it out in pairs.

On the train...

Amina Ouch! Not again!

Leyla What happened?

Amina Four people have stepped on me so far.

Leyla Big deal! We're in a crowded train.

Amina Yeah, but that guy didn't even apologise. He just made a strange gesture, like he's hungry or something.

Leyla What? I doubt it.

Amina Look. He's making more gestures with that boy over there. Oh, they're communicating with sign language.

Leyla I watched a documentary about deaf people and sign language yesterday. Did you know that some signs mean letters and some mean words or even phrases?

Amina I didn't know that. I wonder what he said to me. I'm really curious.

Leyla We'll check online when we get to my place.

Amina What do you think they're talking about now?

Leyla Beats me. Now stop staring!

Later at Leyla's home...

Amina You've been on that laptop for half an hour. Have you found anything yet?

Leyla This website about sign language. It's wicked! You can find anything you want here, and there are short videos that show you how to sign. Watch this one.

Amina That's what the boy on the train did! He made a circle on his chest with his fist. What does it mean?

Leyla Sorry silly!

Amina You know what? I'd like to learn sign language. Maybe I'll have a go. They have classes at the youth club.

Leyla Count me in, too. Sounds like fun!

Do you speak English? III

1 Read

A. Discuss.

- What are the most popular languages that people learn in your country?
- Where can you see or hear English today?
- Do you think English is an important language? Why / Why not?

1 ►► 23 B. Listen, read and choose the best title for the text.

- a. ENGLISH: A Changing Language
- b. English Throughout the Centuries
- c. ENGLISH Around the World

Have you ever wondered how many people speak English? There are about 7.5 billion people in the world today and $\frac{1}{4}$ of the world's population can speak English. Now that's a lot! English is the official language in the UK, the USA, Australia, New Zealand and several other countries. However, three out of every four English speakers are non-native speakers.

English is everywhere! It's the language of finance, business, science, transport, entertainment, computers, etc. For instance, a great number of songs and films are in English. Also, most sites on the web are written in English. So if you know English, you can look up almost anything and be informed about any topic.

Learning English allows you to communicate with people from all over the world. Travelling to other countries is made easier, too. If you're in a foreign country and need information, don't panic. You'll definitely come across someone who speaks English.

Like all languages, English has developed throughout the years, and new words have entered the language. These are frequently used words and they come from a variety of fields that affect our everyday life. For example, the word threequel, which means the third film, book, etc. of a series, was created thanks to Hollywood. There are also new forms of English spoken in some countries. One example is Singlish, which is a variety of English spoken in Singapore, with elements from other local languages.

English has been the language of international communication since the beginning of the twentieth century. But what about in the future? Who knows? It might not be English but Spanish, Chinese or another language.

There are over 1 billion web pages with information written in English.

Can you come up with a definition for these words?

A. Read the description. In which paragraph (1-4) does the writer:

- describe what tourists can do there?
- give his/her opinion about the place?
- describe the most important sights?
- give general information about the place?

WHAT A CITY!

Budapest is the capital of Hungary and one of the most impressive cities in Europe. It's divided into two parts by the River Danube; Buda and Pest. It's an attractive city and a popular holiday destination.

There are many places worth visiting. One of the most well-known is Castle Hill in Buda, with historic attractions there, such as the Royal Palace and lots of museums. In Pest, there's the fascinating Parliament Building, Heroes' Square and St Stephen's Basilica. Chain Bridge, the oldest and most beautiful bridge in Budapest, also attracts many tourists.

This city is definitely not dull. If you want to explore it, go on a bike tour or on a cruise on the Danube. You must also walk along Andrassy Avenue where you'll find lots of cosy cafés and restaurants. Don't leave without visiting Margaret Island, which is a wonderful place for picnics. As for entertainment, there are lots of shows to choose from. And if you want to have some fun, don't miss the zoo.

You'll have an unforgettable experience in this city. You will want to visit Budapest again and again.

2e The place to go III

B. Read the advice below and find adjectives in the text which are similar in meaning to the adjectives 1-5.

Where is it?

What are some of the most interesting sights?

...
Do they attract many tourists?

...
What can visitors do there?

...
What did you like the most?

D. Write a description of a place you've visited and know well for a travel magazine. Use your notes from activity 3C and follow the plan on the next page.

When you're writing a description of a place, think about the place carefully and write about the most important or interesting features. Organise the information according to the plan on the next page.

INTRODUCTION

- Give some general information about the place (name, where it is, most interesting features).

MAIN PART (2 PARAGRAPHS)

- 1 Mention some of the sights but don't just list them. Try to give some information about each sight. Use phrases like:

- One of the most interesting places is...
- There's also...
- Another place worth visiting is...
- ... also attracts many tourists.
- You can also visit...
- Don't forget to visit...

Capital letters

Use capital letters:

- at the beginning of a sentence
- with first and last names
- with Mr/Mrs/Miss/Ms/Dr
- with streets/roads/avenues, etc.
- with cities/countries/nationalities
- with languages
- with the personal pronoun I

Punctuation

Use a full stop (.) to end affirmative and negative sentences

Use a question mark (?) to end direct questions

Use an exclamation mark (!) to end exclamatory sentences (expressing anger, surprise, happiness, love, etc.)

Use a comma:

- to separate items in a list
- before question tags
- before words like and, but, because, etc. when a subject and verb follow
- after words that introduce a sentence or clause (e.g. Well, Hey, However, Also, For example, etc.)
- after the if-clause in conditional sentences

MEGA MUSEUMS

NATIONAL MUSEUM OF KAZAKHSTAN, ASTANA

The National Museum of Kazakhstan is the newest and largest in Central Asia. The museum opened on the eve of the Day of the Capital, in 2014. Visitors to the museum can see exhibits from Kazakhstan's ancient and modern history. It's got seven unique halls which you can explore from Tuesday to Sunday. One of them is the 'Ethnography Hall' which is dedicated to the traditional culture of the Kazakh people. You can see traditional Kazakh objects, and also watch videos of the culture and traditions of the Kazakh people. It has also got a traditional home called a yurt in the centre of the hall, and above it is a screen which has images of the sky. Visitors feel like they are actually in a traditional village!

MUSEUM OF THE FIRST PRESIDENT OF THE REPUBLIC OF KAZAKHSTAN, ASTANA

The Museum of the First President of the Republic of Kazakhstan holds some of the country's modern history. It opened in 2005 and has got many interesting exhibitions. A very important one is the 'Atameken Hall' where you can learn about the family, the childhood and the school years of the First President of Kazakhstan. Furthermore, you can see some of the most important Kazakh sports achievements at the 'Sports victories of Kazakhstan' exhibition. For example, you will have the chance to see Dmitriy Petrukhin's bike, on which he travelled through over eighty countries. That is why his name is in the Guinness Book of World Records. The museum is one of the main sights of the capital and it is open from Tuesday to Sunday.

CENTRAL STATE MUSEUM OF KAZAKHSTAN, ALMATY

The Central State Museum of Kazakhstan is the oldest museum not only in Kazakhstan but also in Central Asia. It opened in 1931, and in 1985 it moved to a new building.

There are exhibition halls where you can be informed about the origin of man, the traditional culture of the country, Kazakhstan during World War II, and about Kazakhstan as an independent state from 1991 up until now. The museum organises annual charity events, too. The Central State Museum of Kazakhstan is a place where you can learn about the culture of this beautiful country and also become an active citizen of this world. It is open every day of the week except Tuesday.

B. Read again and write N for the National Museum of Kazakhstan, F for the Museum of the First President of the Republic of Kazakhstan and C for the Central State Museum of Kazakhstan.

1 ►► 32 A. How did people communicate before instant messaging, smartphones and social media? Listen, read and check your answers.

B. Now look at the highlighted words in the text and find their definitions in a dictionary.

The history of long-distance communication

Smoke signals are one of the earliest types of long-distance communication. People used to throw a wet blanket over a fire to make a cloud of smoke rise into the sky. In ancient China, soldiers sent smoke signals to let others know that an enemy was close. The Native Americans also used smoke signals to send different messages. For instance, one cloud of smoke meant 'attention' and three clouds meant 'danger'. Smoke signals are used today in certain countries on special occasions.

For thousands of years, many cultures, including the Egyptians, Greeks and Romans, used pigeons to carry messages because these birds have a fantastic sense of direction. People used to fasten a message to a pigeon's leg, and then the bird would deliver it to its destination. Pigeons were even used during World War II as messengers.

In 1684, a scientist called Robert Hooke invented the semaphore flags, which help boats communicate better at sea. A person uses two hand-held flags and places them in different positions to make different signals. People on ships used semaphore flags a lot during the late 19th century and they are still used in certain situations; for example, to communicate that there is an emergency situation on a ship.

In the 1830s, the telegraph and Morse code were invented. The telegraph was a way of sending messages with electrical signals through wires. Morse code used different dots or lines for each letter of the alphabet. People coded their message and then sent it through the telegraph. As the 19th century came to an end, the telegraph was used less and less. However, Morse code is still used by the military today.

Instant long-distance communication was born when Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone in 1876. He probably never imagined that his invention would still be the main form of communication in the 21st century.

C. Read again and write T for True, F for False or NM for Not Mentioned.

1. Smoke signals are made when you throw water over a fire. _____
2. A smoke signal is only used to communicate that danger is close by. _____
3. Pigeons carried messages on their backs. _____
4. After World War II, people stopped using pigeons. _____
5. Semaphore flags were used a lot during the 1800s. _____
6. Electricity was needed to send a message by telegraph. _____

D. Read the text again and create a timeline based on the information in the text. Include each means of communication and when it started being used.

E. Discuss the following.

1 ▶▶ 33 A. Look at the picture. What do you think happened to Stu? Listen to the dialogue and check your answers. Then read it out in groups.

Amy So, where are the costumes?

Liv They're in a box somewhere in the basement.

Stu What? You haven't found them yet?

Liv Look, if you want a costume for the fancy-dress party, you'll have to help me carry the box upstairs. I can't do it by myself.

Amy OK, let's go find it.

Liv Careful, guys. It's dark down here.

Stu Haven't you got another torch?

Liv No, but don't worry. I'll find the light switch. It's just that I haven't been down here for ages and I don't remember where it is.

Stu Arghh!

Liv What happened, Stu? Have you hurt yourself?

Stu Yeah, I banged my nose.

Amy Are you OK?

Stu I suppose so. Shine the torch over here.

Liv Just a second.

Stu Ouch!

Amy Now what?

Stu I tried to hold onto something and I've cut myself.

Amy Stu, sit still. Oh, Liv, where's that light switch?

Liv Here it is... Oh, Stu, your nose is bleeding!

Amy Your hand is bleeding, too!

Stu That's just a scratch, but my nose hurts... Ouch! Now, I banged my head, too!

Liv Why did you do that? Just stay put.

Stu Well, the bleeding won't stop by itself. Don't they say that you should hold your head back for a while?

Liv That's wrong. You obviously don't know how to take care of yourself. I've been on a first-aid course. If you want to stop a bleeding nose, you should hold your head slightly forward and pinch your nose for about ten minutes.

Amy Oh, now there's blood on his T-shirt!

Liv I've got an idea. One of us can dress up as a nurse tonight and Stu can be the patient.

Stu Don't make fun of me, Liv!

Kazakhstan in the Olympics

The Olympic Games, which takes place every four years, is the largest sports competition in the world. For many athletes it is the high point of their career. Only the best ones receive Olympic medals, and the gold medal especially is a sign of the highest skill.

Daniyar Yeleussinov Rio de Janeiro Olympics, 2016

Kazakhstan has a great history of boxing and has actually collected gold medals for the sport in every single Olympic Games since it first competed as a country in 1996. In 2016, it was boxer Daniyar Yeleussinov who won a gold medal in the welterweight category (for boxers who weigh around 63-67 kg).

Olga Rypakova London Olympics, 2012

Athlete Olga Rypakova won several competitions in her early career, including gold medals in other championships for the long jump and triple jump, and a silver medal in the World Championships. She even won a bronze medal in the 2008 Olympic Games. However, Rypakova didn't win an Olympic gold until 2012, when she jumped 14.98 metres in the triple jump. The gold medal was finally hers.

Dmitriy Balandin Rio de Janeiro Olympics, 2016

Dmitriy Balandin is the first Kazakh athlete to win an Olympic swimming medal of any kind. In Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, he swam the 200-metre breaststroke in 2 minutes 7.46 seconds. This got him the gold medal! Balandin was already a famous athlete, and he held the Kazakh records for swimming 100 metres and 200 metres. However, his win was a surprise for everyone because Balandin did not do well in the earlier qualifying races – in fact, he was the slowest. It seems he was saving up his speed for the real event!

B. Read again and write Y for Yeleussinov, R for Rypakova or B for Balandin.

1. Nobody thought this athlete was going to win at that Olympics.
2. In this athlete's sport, athletes compete against others of around the same weight.

- Do you enjoy sleeping?
- How many hours do you sleep every night?
- Do you often wake up feeling tired?
- Do you remember your dreams?

2 Read

1 ▶▶ 42 A. Read the interview and match the questions a-e with the answers 1-5. Then listen and check your answers.

- Does everybody dream?
- What is the most common nightmare?
- How important is sleep?
- How much sleep should we get?
- What happens if we don't get enough sleep?

Feeling sleepy?

This week's topic in Health Matters is sleep.
We interviewed top expert Dr Caroline Webber.

Sleep is food for the brain. People aren't usually aware of it, but it is necessary for a healthy life. It refreshes the body and the mind. About one third of your life is spent asleep, which means that in your lifetime you will sleep for about twenty-five years.

It depends, but most people don't get enough. You should get used to sleeping the same amount every night. Avoid sleeping less during the week and trying to catch up at the weekend. This will make you feel more tired. Eight hours a night is probably the best for most people. However, according to recent studies, teenagers need at least 9.5 hours of sleep. In fact, some schools are considering starting lessons later to help with this.

Lack of sleep is unhealthy, even dangerous. It leads to low levels of concentration and harms your memory. Also, teenagers are more likely to develop acne. And remember, a brain hungry for sleep won't stay awake forever. It will fall asleep even when you don't expect it, perhaps when you're behind the wheel.

All human beings spend about 2,100 days dreaming in their lifetime. Some dreams are scary and some don't make any sense. Until the age of three, babies only dream about other people, and from that age they have lots more nightmares than adults, until they are seven or eight years old. Even blind people dream. People who are born blind don't see images but they dream with the senses of sound, smell and touch as well as with emotion.

Research shows that most people have dreamt about being chased. However, drowning and being trapped are also high on the list. We dream about lots of horrible things, but luckily within five minutes of waking up, half of the dream is forgotten and within ten minutes, 90% is gone.

B. Read again and answer the questions.

1. How much time do people usually sleep in a lifetime?
2. Why isn't it a good idea to sleep more at weekends?
3. Why are schools thinking of starting lessons later than they do?
4. How is lack of sleep bad for us?
5. When do children have more nightmares than adults?
6. How do blind people dream?
7. How long does it usually take a person to forget most of his/her dream?

A. What are the advantages and disadvantages of taking up a team sport? Discuss.

B. Read the essay below and compare the ideas to your answers. Then answer the questions.

The Advantages and Disadvantages of taking up A TEAM SPORT

People all around the world love playing sports. Some do individual sports, such as swimming, while others prefer team sports, such as ice hockey.

Playing team sports can have many advantages. To begin with, players learn to work together towards the same goal. This encourages them to be less selfish and show more respect. What is more, playing in a team can help people, especially shy people, make new friends.

On the other hand, there are also some disadvantages. Firstly, players may not always get on with each other. This can make them argue a lot and become competitive. In addition, when you are part of a team, you have to depend on other players. For example, when players do not show up, practice may be cancelled.

To sum up, team sports have both advantages and disadvantages. Personally, I believe that you can learn a lot more by playing in a team and feel a lot more enjoyment than you do when you play alone.

1. Does the writer state his/her opinion in the first paragraph?
2. What is the purpose of the second and third paragraphs?
3. Which words/phrases does the writer use to list/add points? Underline them.
4. In which paragraph does the writer state his/her general opinion?
5. Which words/phrases does he/she use to state this opinion? Underline them.
6. Does the writer write in a formal or in an informal style?

C. Read the plan below.

When you're writing an essay discussing advantages and disadvantages, organise your ideas according to the plan below. Write in a formal style. Do not use short forms or abbreviations.

INTRODUCTION

🗨️ Introduce the subject of the essay and both sides of the topic.

MAIN PART (2 PARAGRAPHS)

🗨️ Present the advantages in one paragraph and the disadvantages in another paragraph. Cover both sides of the topic equally. Use linking words/phrases:

To list points: firstly, first of all, to begin with, secondly, also, in addition, what is more, finally, lastly, etc.

To express contrast: however, on the one hand, on the other hand, etc.

CONCLUSION

🗨️ Make a general statement. Use phrases like:

In conclusion,...

To sum up,...

🗨️ State your opinion if you want to. Use phrases like:

In my opinion,...

Personally, I believe...

I (definitely) think...

In my view,...

D. The phrases in bold are written in an informal style. Rewrite them in a formal style.

1. Oh, and something else, personal trainers can help people do exercises that are suitable for their body type.
2. But hiring a personal trainer can be very expensive.
3. Now, thinking about all these things, I believe that personal trainers are the best way to get fit in a healthy way.

E. Write an essay discussing the advantages and disadvantages of working out at a gym. Use the ideas in activity 2 and follow the plan above.

Before you start, choose a few advantages and disadvantages (the ones you have the most to say about) and make some notes. Avoid discussing too many ideas in your essay.

- talk about the advantages and disadvantages of something
- express my opinion
- write an essay

2 ►► 02 A. Look at the pictures and the title. Which sports do you think will be mentioned in the text? Listen, read and check your answers.

THE TRADITIONAL HORSEBACK GAMES OF KAZAKHSTAN

One of the most well-known Kazakh horseback games is kokpar. It is very similar to the game of polo, but the players use the carcass of a goat instead of a ball. Spectators become very excited as they watch two teams galloping around a field, chasing each other and bumping into each other's horses while trying to get the carcass and put it in the goal. These carcasses can weigh between 30-60 kg, so it is absolutely necessary for players to be strong and athletic.

Audaryspak, a type of horseback wrestling with two contestants, is another great traditional horseback sport. Each game can sometimes last for only a few minutes. During that time, a contestant tries to win by pushing the other person from their horse so that they fall to the ground. Audaryspak is quite a dangerous sport, and players need to have great strength and skill.

Kumis alu, which is also known as 'picking up the coin', is one more popular Kazakh national sport. A rider has to gallop at full speed and, at the same time, reach down to one side of their horse to pick up coins which are on the ground. The competitor who manages to pick up the most coins wins, although nowadays people most often use colourful materials instead of coins. Because only the most talented riders take part in this competition, the audience has the chance to watch an incredible display of horse riding skills. In fact, some say that when Alexander the Great was in central Asia, he saw a game of kumis alu and thought it was the ideal training for a soldier on horseback.

B. Read the text and write T for True, F for False or NM for Not Mentioned.

1. Kokpar is exactly the same as polo.
2. Kokpar players must be able to run very fast.
3. A game of audaryspak always takes two minutes.
4. In audaryspak, the contestant who hits the ground first loses the game.
5. In kumis alu, the first person to pick up a specific number of coins, wins.
6. Alexander the Great made his soldiers practise kumis alu.

Project

Find information about exciting sports in another country and present it to the class. Mention when these sports were first played, how they are played today and how many players take part.

2 ►► 03 A. How much physical activity do you think a young person needs to stay healthy? Listen, read and check your answers.

B. Now look at the highlighted words in the text and find their definitions in a dictionary.

PHYSICAL ACTIVITY

Physical activity is any activity where you move your body and burn energy. There are many benefits of being physically active. Firstly, exercise stops you from becoming overweight, and this is important because keeping a healthy weight lowers your risk of developing certain illnesses in the future.

What is more, when you work out, play a sport or even just go for a walk, the muscles and bones in your body become stronger. Because your heart is a muscle too, physical activity can keep it strong and healthy. You definitely want it to be strong enough to send blood and oxygen around your body!

We should all take part in physical activity regularly. According to the World Health Organisation, young people aged between 5 and 17 should do about 60 minutes of moderate to high-intensity physical activity daily to keep their heart healthy and to stay fit. This does not have to be done all at once but can be done throughout the day.

Other benefits of physical activity and exercise are:

- better memory
- more energy
- a chance to make new friends
- less stress
- better sleep
- a break from homework

What are the activity intensity levels?

When you take part in a low-intensity activity, you do not sweat and your breathing is not affected greatly. Moderate-intensity activities should make you sweat and your heart beat faster. You cannot sing, but you can continue talking. As for high-intensity activities, you start to sweat sooner and cannot talk without getting out of breath.

LOW
walking

MODERATE hiking

HIGH running

C. Read again and answer the questions.

1. What could an unhealthy weight lead to?
2. How does physical activity benefit our muscles and bones?
3. What does our heart do?
4. How are low-intensity and moderate-intensity activities different?
5. How does a person feel during a high-intensity activity?

D. Complete the activity pyramid with the activities in the box. Can you think of other activities you do that you could add to the pyramid?

tennis swimming football aerobics karate canoeing gardening dancing basketball skateboarding cleaning the windows taking the dog for a walk hoovering the house mountain biking snowboarding washing the car	low-intensity activities moderate-intensity activities high-intensity activities

E. Discuss the following.

- ☛ Do you think you need to include more physical activity into your week? Why?
- ☛ How can friends help one another to become more physically fit?

Project

Select and write down 2-3 fitness goals for yourself (e.g. I want to build up my muscles). For the next seven days keep an activity diary to see how much physical activity you are already doing in a week and what you need to change to achieve your goals. Then come up with a plan to help you reach your fitness goals. Present it to your friends and ask for their suggestions.

Liv Where's Bill?

Stu He's on his way. He says he's arranged something very special.

Amy I wonder what. By the way, did you hear about the Urban Hawks? They're playing in town next month.

Stu I know. I'm definitely going.

Amy So am I.

Liv I am too. Why don't we all go together?

Stu Sure! We should get tickets before the concert's sold out. Have they announced the venue yet?

Amy No, but it's probably the football stadium. Miss Bla Bla is supporting them, you know.

Liv I don't really like her.

Stu Neither do I.

Amy I don't either. I reckon our band is better than her.

Stu You can say that again. Hey, did you know Bill's cousin went to university with Chris Morris?

Liv The lead singer of Urban Hawks? Wow! He's so cool! Do you think it's possible to get his autograph?

Stu Ask Bill. Here he comes now. Hey, you look happy.

Bill I've got some news. You know the Urban Hawks are coming to town.

Amy Yeah, we were just talking about them.

Bill Well, guess who's going to be supporting them?

Liv Miss Bla Bla, we know.

Bill Actually, there will be a second supporting act. A band called something like, I don't know... Full Blast!

- Do you know of any musicals?
- Have you watched any musicals which were turned into films?

2 Read

2 ▶▶ 07 A. Look at the posters. What do you know about these musicals? Listen, read and find out more.

Popular Musical

The Phantom of the Opera is a successful musical that was written by Andrew Lloyd Webber. The first performance of this musical was in London in 1986.

The Phantom is a young composer who lives in the Paris Opera House. However, he has got an ugly face so he wears a mask to hide it. The Phantom loves a beautiful opera singer, Christine, but she loves a man called Raoul. The Phantom threatens to kill Raoul if she doesn't choose him, so Christine decides to follow him. Finally, the Phantom understands that he is wrong and helps Raoul and Christine be together.

There are many films based on this musical. The latest one was made in 2004. Millions of people all around the world love the story, the beautiful costumes and scenery, as well as its beautiful music.

Cats is Andrew Lloyd Webber's most famous musical. The first performance was on Broadway in 1982 in the Winter Garden Theatre in New York City and it was the longest running musical there until 2006. In 1983 it won the Best Musical Award and six other awards.

The story is about the lives of different cats that talk and act like humans. They dance and sing some very popular songs, like the song 'Memory'. The cats live in a junkyard and have funny names like Grizabella and Bustopher Jones.

The music, the colourful costumes and make-up make Cats one of the most popular musicals of all time. Both adults and children love it and it is performed in theatres in many countries, like Australia and China. Cats was also made into a film in 1998 and you can watch it on DVD.

- It is very difficult to make correct predictions about the future, but four famous people have tried. So, let's see what the future holds.
- With the world changing so quickly, it is very difficult to make correct predictions about the future. Some people get it right, others get it wrong. Some people, however, are a long way off. Here are a few examples.
- Nowadays, we fly planes, use computers and relax in front of the TV. We don't think it's something special. But how about in the past? What was life like then?

'Man will not fly for 50 years.'

Wilbur Wright, to his brother Orville (1901)

In 1901, the Wright brothers tried out their flying machine for the first time but were very disappointed when they didn't succeed. However, two years later, in 1903, they took to the skies and entered the history books. And only 18 years after Wilbur made his prediction, Captain John Alcock and Lieutenant Arthur Whitten Brown made the first non-stop transatlantic flight from Newfoundland, Canada to Ireland.

'I think there's a world market for about five computers.'

Thomas J. Watson, chairman of the board of IBM (1943)

This prediction seems ridiculous today, but it was true for ten years after Watson said it. Even so, today there are about 2 billion computers in use in the world. And experts now predict that by 2025, almost 8 billion people, our planet's entire population, will be connected to the Internet.

‘Television won’t last because people will soon get tired of staring at a plywood box every night.’

Darryl Zanuck, film producer, 20th Century Fox (1946)

Zanuck played a major role in the Hollywood studio system from 1922 to 1970, but he definitely got it wrong about television. The total number of TV sets in the world is over 1.5 billion. In the USA, there are over 2000 TV channels and on average, a TV set is on for 6 hours and 47 minutes every day.

Steve Chen, co-founder of YouTube (2005)

At the time, Chen was worried about the popularity of his site. Luckily for Chen, he continued with his YouTube idea and almost two years later, on 13 November 2006, he made a lot of money when Google bought YouTube for $1.65 billion. Today, YouTube is the Internet’s largest video sharing website. People from all around the world watch hundreds of millions of videos every day.

C. Read again and write T for True or F for False.

2. The first non-stop transatlantic flight was in 1918.
3. In 1950, the world market didn’t have a need for computers.
4. About 2 billion people use computers today.
5. Zanuck predicted that people wouldn’t like watching TV.
6. In the USA, people have their TV sets on for about 7 hours a day.
7. Steve Chen owns YouTube.

STAR WARS

EPISODE VII - THE FORCE AWAKENS

Star Wars: Episode VII - The Force Awakens is an adventure film directed by JJ Abrams. It is part of a series of epic space films that began in 1977. The film stars Daisy Ridley as Rey, a young woman who lives by herself on the planet Jakku, and John Boyega as Finn, a soldier with the First Order.

The action begins when Rey finds BB-8, a droid which has a map in its body that leads to the lost Jedi Master, Luke Skywalker. Meanwhile, Finn decides to leave the First Order after Commander Kylo Ren asks him to murder families. Finn meets Rey, and together they steal a spaceship and fly away. They are soon found by Han Solo and Chewbacca, two freedom fighters who help them to get the map to General Leia. Now all that is left is a battle between good and evil.

I really enjoyed this film from start to finish. The plot is very interesting because it brings together old characters (Harrison Ford, Carrie Fisher) from the Star Wars series and mixes in new ones. The acting is excellent and the special effects very realistic. The costumes help the story come to life, and the soundtrack reminds you of the previous films but also feels new. Overall, watching the film was an exciting experience, so I recommend it to everyone.

The Old Man

Directed by the talented Yermek Tursunov, The Old Man (Shal) is a modern-day adaptation of the book The Old Man and the Sea, which was written by the famous American author Ernest Hemingway. Tursunov follows the main themes of the novel, but at the same time he reworks the story. As he brings in Kazakh elements, he captures the true nature of Kazakhstan's people and land.

Kassym (Yerbolat Toguzakov) is a hard but kind man who has spent his whole life living in a village in the steppes and looking after sheep. One cold winter's day, as Kassym is out with his sheep, he gets lost just as a big storm hits the area. He soon realises that he will have to use all his experience to survive Mother Nature and a hungry pack of wolves. While his grandson organises a rescue team and tries to find him, Kassym has to fight to stay alive.

Myn Bala

Myn Bala is a historical action film which takes audiences back to the early eighteenth century. The Zhongar, a Mongol tribe, have invaded Kazakhstan, and a group of about two hundred young Kazakh men decide to fight them so their country can be free again. Their leader, Sartai (Assylkhan Tolepov), is well known as a great fighter, and his friends Korlan (Kuralay Anarbekova) and Taimas (Ayan Utepbergen) fight bravely beside him. The battles grow bigger and bigger as the film goes on and end with the famous 1729 Battle of Anyrakay.

The director, Akan Satayev, has done a great job of filming the action-packed fight scenes and the Kazakh countryside. The lead roles were given to students of the TK Zhurgenov Kazakh National Academy of Arts and they delivered fantastic performances, helping Myn Bala to become a record-breaking hit.

B. Read again and write O for The Old Man, M for Myn Bala, or N for neither.

1. shows people fighting each other? _____
2. has got an American actor? _____
3. shows one family member trying to help another? _____
4. has got a plot which was first used in a book? _____
5. uses a lot of special effects? _____
6. shows a search for a missing person? _____
7. was a blockbuster? _____
8. shows a group of people trying to achieve something great? _____

2 ►► 19 A. Look at the pictures and the title of the lesson. What do you think installation art is? Listen, read and check your answers.

B. Now look at the highlighted words in the text and find their definitions in a dictionary.

INSTALLATION ART

Installation art is a kind of art that uses the area it's in to help people enjoy it. It isn't just about making paintings or sculptures; installation art includes exhibits with sound, performances, video and even the Internet. It's a new kind of art and it became well known in the mid-twentieth century. The people who experience the art interact with the exhibits by using different senses at the same time - not only sight, but also hearing, smell and touch. You can find installation art in interior spaces, such as museums, and in exterior spaces, like parks and outside shopping centres. Most art installations are temporary and stay at the site only for a few weeks or months. The main point of installation art is for the people not to just look at it, but to experience it and feel like they are a part of the art, too.

Christo and Jeanne-Claude have made many famous art installations all over the world. Some of their most famous exhibits include covering the Reichstag building in Berlin and the Pont Neuf bridge in Paris with fabric, and placing umbrellas in public places in California and Japan at the same time. Their latest installation was The Floating Piers on Italy's Lake Iseo. For sixteen days, in the summer of 2016, people had the chance to walk on 100,000 square metres of yellow fabric that was supported by a floating dock made of polythene cubes.

The walkway that was created stretched for 3 kilometres across the lake, and the fabric continued for another 2.5 kilometres along pedestrianised streets. The piers were about 35 centimetres high and 16 metres wide.

In 2016, artist Har Hollands created the project Light Dome. It consisted of 121 light-transparent tubes, each one connected to a cable. The tubes were able to change colours and move to different heights. There were also eight loudspeakers that produced sound. A central system controlled the movements as well as the light and sound effects, creating a magnificent spectacle.

C. Read again and write T for True or F for False.

1. You can see, hear and smell installation art.
2. Installation art only appears in museums.
3. Installation art doesn't usually last forever.
4. Christo and Jeanne-Claude placed umbrellas on the Pont Neuf.
5. The public could see The Floating Piers for the whole summer of 2016.
6. Natural light was used for the Light Dome.

D. Discuss the following.

- ☞ Have you ever experienced installation art? If so, did you like it?
- ☞ What do you find interesting about installation art?

Project

Think of your own installation art and write a short text describing it, as in the text above. You can also make it or draw a picture of it.

Times past III

1 Read

A. You will read an extract from an adapted tale about Robin Hood. First, read the introduction and look at the picture. Can you guess what the extract is about?

2 ▶▶ 20 B. Read the extract. Four sentences are missing. Complete gaps 1-4 with the sentences a-d. Then listen and check your answers.

Long ago, no rich man could pass through Sherwood Forest near Nottingham Town without meeting the famous archer, Robin Hood. Times were hard in England, and Robin Hood stole money from the rich and gave it to the poor. He believed rich people's laws were unfair for poor people. The poor people loved him, but the Sheriff of Nottingham hated him and wanted to arrest him. The problem was that the Sheriff could not find Robin Hood because he hid in the forest. So, he decided to hold an archery competition to make Robin Hood come out of the forest and into Nottingham Town.

A Tale of ROBIN HOOD

On the day of the archery competition, Nottingham Town was full of people. The Sheriff had sent messengers all over the country. He wanted Robin Hood to hear about the competition and come to take part. The Sheriff was planning on finally catching him there. This time he wanted to succeed.

As the archers were gathering in the field with their bows and arrows, the Sheriff looked carefully to see if Robin Hood was there. Robin Hood always wore green clothes. 1

As soon as the men began to shoot, the crowd cheered loudly. They were the best archers they had ever seen! 2 One was a famous archer called Gilbert, the second was a man called Adam, and the third was a stranger. He had dark brown hair and wore a red jacket, but no one knew his name.

‘Could that stranger be Robin Hood?’ the Sheriff asked one of his soldiers.

‘No. Robin Hood has fair hair,’ the soldier replied.

‘Then he has not come,’ said the Sheriff angrily.

Gilbert shot first. His arrow almost hit the centre, and the crowd cheered. It was a good shot and they were sure Gilbert had won.

It was time for the stranger to shoot. While he was preparing his arrow, the crowd was anxiously waiting. Could he really do better? His arrow flew very close to Gilbert’s and sliced off one of the feathers. 3

The other archer, Adam, shook his head. ‘I am not a bad archer,’ he said, ‘but I will not compete today. I cannot shoot as well as this stranger.’ With that, he left the field.

The Sheriff approached the stranger. ‘You have won,’ he said. ‘Take this golden arrow as your prize. You are the best archer in Nottingham. 4
He was afraid to even show his face here today.’

- a. However, no one was dressed in that colour.
- b. Then it landed exactly in the centre of the target.
- c. All of them shot well, but among them were three men who stood out.
- d. In fact, I believe you are better than Robin Hood.

TIP!

- Read the whole text first and then the sentences given.
- Pay attention to the development of the story, the vocabulary, as well as to pronouns (it, they, this, etc.) and words/phrases which link sentences (however, later, etc.) both in the text and in the sentences given.

A. Talk in groups. You will listen to an extract from a Kazakh folk tale called A Bought Dream. Using the new words you learnt in activity 1 and the pictures below, try to predict what happens in the story. Use the questions below to help you.

- Who do you think the main characters are?
- Where do you think the story takes place?
- What do you think happens in the story?

2 ▶▶ 23 B. Listen to the first part of the folk tale and put the pictures below in the correct order. Write 1-6.

3 Read

2 ▶▶ 24 A. Below is the continuation of the folk tale. What do you think happens? How does the story end? Listen, read and find out more.

A BOUGHT DREAM

The evil witch left and Sarsembai ran to Altyn-kyz's side. It was too dangerous to try to escape into the forest without any food, but Sarsembai had an idea. 'I'm going to go up the river to hunt for meat. I'll be back in a few days – don't worry.'

On the first day, he saw a baby deer. Some large black birds were scaring it, so Sarsembai chased the birds away. The father deer appeared. 'You saved my son! I'll help you one day,' he said.

The next day, Sarsembai heard a young sheep bleating loudly. It was stuck in a deep hole. Sarsembai pulled it out and its father ran over. 'Thank you! One day, I'll do something for you,' he said.

On the third day, Sarsembai almost stepped on a baby eagle. He carefully picked it up and returned it to its nest. The father eagle flew down and also offered to help him.

When Sarsembai returned, the horrible witch was shouting angrily at Altyn-kyz. Sarsembai went quickly to the tree, got the box and ran into the yurt. 'If you let Altyn-kyz go, I'll give you these diamonds,' he said calmly. He threw them on the floor, and as the witch was picking them up, Sarsembai and Altyn-kyz ran off.

The witch wasn't far behind, but poor Altyn-kyz couldn't run any faster and she was soon out of breath. Suddenly, the father deer appeared. He took them on his back to the mountain. Just when the witch was getting near, they saw the father sheep. He carried them to the top of the mountain. The witch was so angry that she started attacking the mountain with her teeth and claws. Just before the mountain fell on the witch, the father eagle flew down. Altyn-kyz and Sarsembai jumped on his back and were finally out of danger. The eagle took them to Altyn-kyz's village and her parents invited Sarsembai to live with them.

Many years later, the two got married and had a baby boy. 'My dream has come true,' he said, 'I'm living like a khan. My lovely wife is the sun leaning over me and our son is the moon, playing on my chest.'

One day, he found the sand in the pocket of his old clothes. He threw it over the land, and the grains of sand turned into camels, horses, cows and sheep. 'They belong to all of us!' he told the surprised villagers.

B. Read the text again and correct the sentences. Underline the part of the extract that gives you the answer to each question.

1. As soon as the witch left, the children escaped.
2. Sarsembai and Altyn-kyz went up the river.
3. Sarsembai saved two animals.
4. When Sarsembai returned, the witch was getting ready to eat Altyn-kyz.
5. Sarsembai threw the diamonds into the river.
6. The deer carried the children to the top of the mountain.
7. Sarsembai and Altyn-kyz had a baby girl.
8. The grains of sand turned into villagers.

- Otherwise we won't be able to sleep.
- There were heavy chains around his wrists and ankles.
- The ghost reached his small secret room and sat down.
- Some time later, Mr Otis was woken up by a strange noise in the corridor outside his room.
- But just as he approached the top of the stairs, a door opened.

The Canterville Ghost

Oscar Wilde

When the American ambassador Mr Otis decided to buy Canterville Chase, Lord Canterville warns him that the house is haunted. Mr Otis doesn't believe in ghosts and agrees to buy it anyway. So Mr and Mrs Otis, their oldest son Washington, their daughter Virginia and their two twin boys move into Canterville Chase. None of them are afraid, but something mysterious keeps happening. There is a bloodstain on the library floor. Washington cleans it every evening, but it reappears every morning. Washington is certain that it must be the ghost.

On the fourth night, the family was asleep by half past eleven. It sounded like metal clanking and it was coming closer. He got up, put on his slippers calmly and went to his drawer to take out a bottle. He opened the door and stood face-to-face with an old man who looked terrible. He had dirty, long, grey hair and red eyes. He was wearing old-fashioned clothes which were torn and dirty.

‘My dear sir,’ said Mr Otis. ‘You really need to oil those chains. Would you put some of this on them?’ Mr Otis left the bottle on a small table, closed his bedroom door and went to bed.

The ghost couldn’t believe it! He hadn’t succeeded! For a moment, he just stood there staring at the door. Then, filled with anger, he smashed the bottle on the floor, turned and ran down the corridor. Two children appeared and a pillow flew past his head. The ghost disappeared through the wall and the house became peaceful once again.

No one had insulted him in his three hundred years of haunting. During his successful career, he had terrified people with his skeleton, frightened others by making mysterious noises, and even scared people to death by appearing suddenly. ‘These dreadful modern Americans can’t treat me like this,’ he thought. And he spent the rest of the night planning to take revenge.

The Woodcutter's Daughter

The Woodcutter's Daughter

Once upon a time, an old woodcutter lived in the middle of the Kazakh steppe. His only possessions were an ox, a donkey and an axe for chopping firewood. Although he was very poor, he felt lucky to have his lovely young daughter Aina, who was very helpful and took great care of him.

One day, he put some firewood onto the donkey's back and said, 'I'm going to the bazaar. See you later!'

'Take care, father. I've heard some bad things about that place. Don't let anyone steal from you,' Aina said anxiously.

The woodcutter waited patiently all day for someone to buy the firewood. At last, a rich young man with fine clothes and a long black beard came by. 'How much do you want for the firewood?' he asked.

'One piece of silver,' said the woodcutter.

'OK. I'll take it "as is",' said the rich man.

The woodcutter did not understand what he meant, but because he really wanted the silver, he agreed. When they got to his house, the rich man said, 'The donkey is mine now. You said I could have the firewood "as is".'

The woodcutter was in shock and held onto his donkey. 'Well, old man,' the rich man said, 'you obviously don't trust me. We can go to the judge and let him decide.'

When the judge heard the story, he looked at both men – one rich, one poor. He spoke to the woodcutter. 'It's your fault – this gentleman offered to buy the firewood "as is" and you agreed. Since the firewood was on the donkey's back, the donkey is now his.'

When the woodcutter got home, Aina was sad to see him so upset.

One week later, Aina said, 'I'll go to the bazaar today. Perhaps I'll be luckier than you. Stay here by the warm fire.'

At the bazaar, the same rich young man noticed Aina with an axe. She was selling firewood that was on an ox's back. 'I'll give you two pieces of silver for the firewood "as is",' he announced.

'And I'll take the silver "as is",' answered Aina.

B. Read the extract again and answer the questions. Underline the part of the extract that gives you the answer to each question.

1. Why did the woodcutter feel lucky?
2. How did Aina feel when her father told her he was going to the bazaar?

Book review

By Sophie Peansman

Agatha Christie's novel Death on the Nile came out in 1937. It is a crime novel where the fictional famous detective, Hercule Poirot, tries to solve another murder.

The story is set on the river Nile in Egypt where Poirot meets Linnet Doyle and her husband Simon while they are on a cruise boat. However, all is not well between the newly-married couple. When Linnet is found murdered, Poirot is asked to find the killer. It seems like a simple case, but everything becomes complicated as more passengers are somehow connected with Linnet. Poirot has to question all the people on the boat and put all the pieces together to solve the mystery.

Agatha Christie does a great job of keeping you interested throughout the book with her vivid descriptions, and keeping you guessing what will happen next. The suspense is actually one of the features that make this book a real page-turner.

Readers who like suspense, puzzles and an unpredictable plot will love this book. If you are a crime novel fan, don't forget to put it on your list of books to read!

I Lived to tell the tale...

Real-life stories of people who got a bit too close to wild animals.

Our village is near the River Ganges, and tigers have always lived close by without disturbing anyone. But climate change means they have to find new sources of food. As a result, one of the villagers was killed last year while he was collecting honey in the forest. However, tigers very rarely come close to villages, so I couldn't believe my eyes when I saw one last month. It appeared suddenly as I was walking to my hut. I started running, but it didn't chase me. I hid inside and held my breath. Then I heard it scratching at my door. I was terrified! Fortunately, after a while, a group of villagers managed to scare the beast away.

Ramesh, India

Last year, I went to Australia with my brother, and we had the silly idea of walking in the bush. He was looking for a good place to take a photo while I was walking by a river. At some point, I stood on a log, well I thought it was a log. It turned out to be a crocodile's tail. It span round and snapped its jaws at me, and luckily missed my leg. I don't know how but I managed to find the courage to run. Now, I've always thought crocodiles were slow. Well, I was wrong. With the croc snapping at my ankles, I climbed a nearby tree. After a while, it got bored and went back to the river. As soon as my brother returned, I told him everything that had happened. All he said was, 'Did you get a photo of it?'

4. A plant that traps and eats small animals.

Extraordinary plants

There are over 350,000 species of plants on Earth. You can find them living almost everywhere and they grow in all shapes and sizes.

Baobab

These strange-looking trees are found in Africa and Australia and most live for thousands of years. The baobab has an enormous trunk which is swollen and full of water. It can be 7-11 metres wide and some can hold up to 120,000 litres. The tree stores the water so it can survive during the difficult dry season. In Western Australia during the 1890s, the police used a hollow baobab tree as a prison when taking prisoners to the town of Derby.

Pitcher Plant

Pitcher plants are very colourful, meat-eating plants with a 'pitcher' full of liquid. They are also called monkey cups because sometimes monkeys use them to drink water. Insects are attracted to the plant's nectar and they slip down the sides of the pitcher into the sticky liquid. There is no way to escape, so they drown and are 'eaten'. A species in Borneo has a large pitcher that can hold 3.5 litres of liquid, and sometimes even rats or lizards get trapped in there.

Bamboo

Bamboo grows in many different climates, from cold mountains to hot tropical forests. It can grow up to 30m tall. But bamboo isn't a tree, it's actually the largest member of the grass family. Bamboo is very useful because it's used as building material and food as well as for making furniture, paper, medicine or even musical instruments.

Bamboo also holds the record for being the fastest growing plant. It can grow 90cm in one day, so if you're walking through a bamboo forest, stop for a while and watch. You'll be surprised!

Killer wave

Yesterday the biggest earthquake in more than forty years occurred deep under the Indian Ocean. As a result, massive tsunamis followed with waves of up to 30 metres high, causing serious damage and deaths. Over ten countries were hit, but Indonesia, India, Sri Lanka and Thailand were hit the hardest. Tens of thousands of people have lost their lives, but the exact number is still unknown. Thousands are injured, thousands are missing and hundreds of thousands are now homeless.

Some people still can't believe how they survived such a natural disaster. A survivor from Phuket, Thailand said, 'A Science teacher who was here on holiday warned us that a tsunami was coming. Thanks to him, by the time the wave arrived, we had evacuated the beach and had moved to higher ground. Others weren't as lucky. We saw people who were clinging to trees while they were being swept away by the waves.'

HAITI Hit by massive quake

Haiti's capital, Port-au-Prince, is in urgent need of help after yesterday's earthquake which completely destroyed the city. The 7.0-magnitude earthquake hit near the capital at 16.53 local time and it is the worst in 200 years. Nearly all the buildings have collapsed, and thousands of residents and tourists are trapped under the rubble. By nightfall, survivors had rescued many people, but they had also found many lifeless bodies. Today rescue teams from all over the world are arriving and will try to save as many people as they can.

'The problem is not only the trapped people,' said a local official. 'There are thousands of injured who aren't being treated because there aren't enough doctors or medical supplies.'

3. What words does the writer use to describe feelings?
4. What is the purpose of each paragraph?

Henry's Hunch

Last summer, Henry and his twin brother, Sam, decided to go camping in the mountains with their friends. One morning, Sam got up earlier than the rest of the boys, so he went for a walk in the woods while they were still sleeping.

Suddenly, Henry woke up and shouted, 'Sam's in trouble!' He looked very frightened. In the beginning, the other boys thought that he had had a nightmare. However, when they saw that Sam wasn't around, they got worried. They began calling his name, but there was no answer. Henry told the boys to follow him and they did. They kept walking till, to everyone's surprise, they heard Sam crying for help. Henry was so scared that he started running faster and faster until he reached the edge of a cliff. He couldn't believe his eyes! Sam was hanging off the edge.

Fortunately, Henry found his twin just in time. He pulled his brother up and hugged him. He was so relieved. Sam asked Henry, 'How did you know I was in danger?', but Henry didn't know what to say. He had just felt it.

B. Read the plan below.

When you're writing a story, try to narrate events according to the plan below. Don't forget to use Past Tenses (Past Simple, Past Continuous, Past Perfect).

- use the Passive Voice
- talk about the weather and natural disasters
- write a story

3 ►► 17 A. Look at the pictures and the title. What do you know about this place? Listen, read and check your answers.

Burabay National Nature Park

The Burabay National Nature Park is filled with beautiful lakes and forests, as well as unusual and rare plant life. No wonder it is often called the 'Pearl of Kazakhstan'. Although it is actually one of the country's smaller nature reserves, the beauty of the area has made it popular with visitors from both inside and outside the country.

One of Burabay's most interesting features is the unusual rock formations that you can see in the area. All across the park the rocks and cliffs form recognisable shapes, and each one comes with its own story. If you look at the hill of Zheke Batyr, for example, you might notice that it is shaped like the face of a sleeping knight. According to legend, this is the final resting place of a knight who died in battle. Visitors can also find rocks that have the shapes and the names of various animals, such as 'the Cow' or 'the Camel'.

Perhaps the most famous legend connected with the park is that of Zhumbaktas and Okzhetpes. The rock of Zhumbaktas, which rises out of the waters of Lake Burabay in the northern part of the region, is an interesting optical illusion. From one side, its shape is that of a beautiful young girl; from another, an old woman; from a third direction, it looks like a sphinx. Legend says that Zhumbaktas was created when a young girl jumped from the nearby Okzhetpes cliff and turned into a rock herself.

Visitors can enjoy hiking or camping in the region. Winter sports such as skiing and winter fishing are also available for the more adventurous. Burabay is perfect for nature lovers; wildlife in the park is protected from hunting by law, and the region is home to 223 species of bird and 54 different animal species. Another popular activity is mushrooming. Among the 757 different types of plant in the park, there are around 100 varieties of mushroom.

B. Read the text again and answer the questions.

1. By what name is Burabay National Nature Park also known?
2. What does Zheke Batyr look like?
3. Which three shapes can be seen in Zhumbaktas rock?
4. What story is associated with Okzhetpes?
5. What activity is illegal in Burabay?
6. How many types of mushroom grow in Burabay?

Project

3 ►► 18 A. What do you know about volcanoes? Do you know anything about how they are created? Listen, read and check your answers.

B. Now look at the highlighted words in the text and find their definitions in a dictionary.

VOLCANOES

Volcanoes can be found in most parts of the world, and scientists believe that around 1,900 erupt from time to time. There are three types of volcano: active, dormant and extinct. Active volcanoes are those which still erupt. Dormant ones are those which are not active at the moment but are expected to erupt at some point in the future. Extinct volcanoes are those which scientists believe will never erupt again – or, at least, not for tens of thousands of years.

Volcanoes are created when pressure builds up under the Earth's crust (the outer surface of the planet). Under the crust there is a layer of liquid rock called magma. When pressure increases, magma breaks through the crust, forming a vent. This is what creates a volcanic eruption.

During an eruption, magma comes out through the crust to the Earth's surface, where it becomes lava. A lava flow can take many forms: it can run out of the earth like a river, shoot upwards like a fountain, or even explode into the air and fall down like burning rain. After the eruption, the lava cools and hardens into rock, creating the mountains and craters that are usually seen around volcanoes.

Volcanic eruptions can be very dangerous. The lava flow can reach temperatures of up to 1,250 °C, and it can move very fast and cover great distances, destroying everything in its way. The heat and pressure that an eruption releases can also cause earthquakes, floods and other natural disasters. This is why scientists monitor volcanoes very carefully for signs of eruption so they can get everyone in the nearby area to safety before one happens.

C. Complete with the words in the box.

crust vent crater magma lava

D. Read the text again and put the sentences in the correct order (1-4).

- a. Magma rises upwards and creates a vent.
- b. The lava cools and forms a rock layer around the volcano.
- c. Hot lava flows from the volcano.
- d. Pressure in the magma rises.

E. Discuss the following.

- ☛ Are there any volcanoes in your country?
- ☛ Have you ever seen videos of volcanic eruptions?

3 ►► 19 A. Look at the pictures. What do you think the people like doing during their holidays? Listen, read and check your answers.

And you call that a holiday?

Not everyone enjoys a relaxing holiday around a pool getting a tan. Andy Thomas interviews two people who have a different view on what a holiday is.

Oliver Mason looks like any other teacher and makes a good impression in his smart shirt and tie. But he has an unusual burning passion for volcanoes. Whenever he has some free time, he travels to a new volcano to explore. He told me he found them fascinating and that he had travelled the globe visiting them. His favourite location is Mauna Loa in Hawaii, where the biggest active volcano in the world is. 'Active volcanoes are much more interesting. Also, there are many activities you can do at volcanoes. I've just come back from an unforgettable trip to Nicaragua, where I went volcano surfing down the side of a volcano!' said Oliver. That's pretty dangerous, even with safety equipment. He showed me his scars and told me that I'd love volcano surfing if I tried it, but I replied that it wasn't for me.

I was looking forward to chatting with Erica Reid because, like me, she is an experienced scuba diver. But in the end, there was a big difference between us. You see, I wasn't very keen on the company she kept underwater. She told me that she loved interacting with marine life. Every summer she books a holiday in places around the world just to swim in different marine environments. She's swum with humpback whales in the Antarctic and black tip reef sharks in the Bahamas. She told me her most enjoyable trip had been to Mexico where she had swum with whale sharks. 'They are the largest fish in the world, but they aren't dangerous,' Erica said. Personally, I'd prefer not to find out. For her next trip she has made the decision to travel to Darwin, Australia, where she's going to swim with crocodiles. Send us a postcard, Erica!

B. Read again and complete the summaries about the two people.

Oliver Mason is a (1) _____ who is really interested in (2) _____. His favourite one is still (3) _____ and it's the (4) _____ in the world. It's in (5) _____. Apart from exploring, Oliver likes doing different (6) _____. When he was in (7) _____, he tried volcano (8) _____.

subject: A nightmare mini holiday

by: Jason Partridge

date: 14th August

location: Home

Well, I thought this would be the best holiday, but unfortunately, I've just come back from the shortest cruise ever! From the moment my parents and I arrived at the port we knew it wasn't going to be our dream holiday.

The first thing I noticed was that most of the people boarding the ship weren't my age. But the real shock came when we were shown to our cabin. It was tiny, the beds were uncomfortable and it had no windows! So my dad went to reception and asked if we could pay extra for a better one.

Then things got worse. It was time for the ship to sail when there was an announcement that there would be a two-hour delay.

The crew asked us all to be patient, stay on board and enjoy our lunch. But the service was terrible! They were so disorganised it took us an hour to have lunch and it was completely tasteless. After that, we went back to the cabin. My mum wanted to have a shower but there was no water. They said something about having trouble with the water supply and that they were doing their best to fix it.

We hardly got any sleep that night and the next day, when the ship made its first stop, we got off along with most of the other passengers and we never went back. As I'm writing this, my dad is writing a letter of complaint to the travel agency asking for our money back.

3 ▶▶ 28 A. Below are some travel tips. Listen and read. Then read the statements 1-5 and say where the people travelled to.

TRAVEL TIPS: CULTURAL DIFFERENCES

Before you travel to a foreign country, it is a good idea to learn a few things about the customs and gestures of the people. These may be very different from yours and if you are not familiar with them, you might make a fool of yourself or even get into trouble!

THE UK

In many European countries greeting by hugging or kissing on the cheeks is very common. But only very good friends hug or kiss in the UK, and British men rarely hug or kiss at all. Also, loud behaviour is considered very rude and British people never push in to get to the front of a queue.

THE NETHERLANDS

In most parts of Europe and in some Latin American countries, moving your finger in a circle around your ear is like telling someone they're out of their mind. In the Netherlands, this gesture means something completely different. Dutch people use it to say, 'You've got a phone call.'

CHINA

Greeting in China is usually a slight nod and a bow. Also, it is polite to offer a gift to a Chinese host when you visit them. However, hosts will often refuse the gift many times before accepting it.

PERU

Raising your eyebrows in most countries is a sign of surprise. But in Peru it means 'money' or 'pay me.' So, if someone from Peru owes you money, remember to raise your eyebrows.

INDIA

Be careful when you want to point at something in India, because it is impolite to use your finger. You should either signal to something using your chin, or even better, your whole hand. Also, when you're visiting a temple, always remove your shoes. And if you offend someone, the best way to say sorry is to tap the person on the shoulder, then tap your forehead.

1. AS SOON AS I WALKED INTO THE TEMPLE, A MAN STARTED SHOUTING AT ME AND POINTING AT MY FEET.

2. WHEN I ARRIVED, I GAVE HIM A PRESENT, BUT HE DIDN'T WANT IT. I HAD TO OFFER IT AGAIN AND AGAIN UNTIL HE FINALLY TOOK IT.

3. IT WAS MY FIRST MONTH THERE AND I DIDN'T WANT TO BUMP INTO THIS PERSON BECAUSE I OWED HER MONEY. BUT WHEN I DID, SHE JUST LOOKED REALLY SURPRISED. VERY STRANGE.

4. I WAS ON THE OTHER SIDE OF A CROWDED ROOM AND THE PERSON I WAS STAYING WITH MADE A GESTURE AS IF TO SAY I WAS CRAZY. I COULDN'T UNDERSTAND WHY HE WAS MAKING FUN OF ME!

5. WHEN I MET MY HOST, I KISSED HIM THREE TIMES ON THE CHEEK. HE LOOKED VERY SHOCKED, BUT THAT'S HOW PEOPLE GREET IN POLAND.

7d Going abroad III

B. Find words in the texts about Peru and India that match the meanings below.

1. move something to a higher position

2. the part of your face above your eyes

3. have to give money to someone because you borrowed it

4. make people understand by sending a message or sign

5. the part of your face under your mouth

6. to be rude and unpleasant to somebody

7. to hit quickly and lightly with the fingers

C. Read again and write T for True, F for False or NM for Not Mentioned.

1. People in the UK never hug and kiss when they greet each other.

2. Pushing in front of someone in a queue in the UK will make them very angry.

3. There are many gestures to show someone they've got a phone call in Latin America.

4. Chinese people will only accept certain types of gifts.

5. There is a Peruvian facial expression which tells someone they owe money.

6. Never point at something with your whole hand in India.

7. Tapping an Indian person on the shoulder will offend him/her.

Lincoln,
LN2 7HD

Dear Sir/Madam,

I saw your advertisement in a local newspaper. I am writing to ask for more information about winter breaks.

Firstly, would you please tell me if there is a minimum number of people required to get the special offer for groups? I would like to come with friends, but I do not know the exact number yet. Also, could you tell me during which months the ski holidays are available? We are thinking of coming at the end of February or the beginning of March. Furthermore, do you provide ski equipment or do I have to hire it and pay extra? This is my first time skiing, so I do not have the equipment. Lastly, could you let me know what facilities are available at each of the resorts?

I would like to thank you in advance for your time and assistance. I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours faithfully,

Matthew Fox

B. Read the information below. Then read the direct questions 1-4 and form indirect questions.

In formal letters, try not to use direct questions too often. It is more polite to use indirect questions. Indirect questions begin with phrases like:

Can/Could/Would you tell me...?

Can/Could/Would you inform me...?

Can/Could/Would you let me know...?

Do you know...?

DIRECT QUESTIONS

- Where is the hotel?
- Is breakfast included?

INDIRECT QUESTIONS

- *Do you know where the hotel is?
- *Could you tell me if/whether breakfast is included?

In indirect questions, the word order is the same as in affirmative sentences and the tenses do not change.

1. How much does it cost?

Would you please inform me _____?

2. Is there an indoor swimming pool?

Do you know _____?

3. Do all rooms have a TV?

Can you tell me _____?

4. What type of extreme sports will I be able to do there?

Could you let me know _____?

C. Read the plan below.

When you're writing a formal letter asking for information, follow the plan below. Remember to write in a formal style and do not use short forms or abbreviations.

GREETING

- Dear Sir/Madam,
- Dear Mr/Mrs/Miss/Ms + surname,

OPENING PARAGRAPH

Begin by saying where you saw the advertisement and why you're writing. Use phrases like:

- I saw your advertisement in... and I was interested in...
- I am writing to ask for more information about...
- I would like some information about...

MAIN PART

Ask for information in a formal and polite way. Remember to use:

🗨️ linking words/phrases to list your questions:

firstly, first of all, to begin with, secondly, furthermore, also, in addition, what is more, apart from that, finally, lastly, etc.

🗨️ indirect questions

CLOSING PARAGRAPH

End by thanking and mentioning that you'd like a reply as soon as possible.

- I would like to thank you in advance.
- Thank you for your time and assistance.
- I look forward to hearing from you.
- Please send me a reply with any information as soon as possible.

SIGNING OFF

☞ Use a formal signature ending.

- Yours faithfully, (when you don't know the name of the person you are writing to)
- Yours sincerely, (when you know the name of the person you are writing to)

☞ Sign underneath and write your full name below your signature.

D. Below are parts of a formal letter. Not all the words/phrases are appropriate. Rewrite them in an appropriate style.

1. Dear Mr Frank Jones, _____

2. I saw your ad in a mag and I'd like some info. _____

3. Oh, and lastly, send me some photos, OK? _____

4. Write back soon. _____

Yours, _____

Brenda Dale _____

E. ROLE PLAY

Go to page 241.

F. Look at the advertisement from activity 3E and write a letter to Tomkins Travel Agency to ask for information about the holiday. Follow the plan in activity 3C.

Don't forget to revise your drafts and edit your writing. Check punctuation, capital letters, spelling, word order, grammar, vocabulary, linking words, set phrases, as well as the layout of the letter (date, addresses, block paragraphs) and the style (formal language, appropriate greetings and signature endings, etc.).

TIP!

- report what other people have said
- give an account of a true event
- talk about different types of holiday

- talk about misfortunes
- talk about cultural differences
- write a formal letter asking for information

3 ►► 32 A. Look at the picture below. What do you know about this place? Listen, read and check your answers.

BAIKONUR COSMODROME

A gateway to space

Baikonur Cosmodrome is a spaceport in Kazakhstan, east of the Aral Sea (a lake lying between Kazakhstan and Uzbekistan). It's the world's first and largest spacecraft launching site, and it has a rich history.

The Cosmodrome is located near Toretam railway station, very far from populated areas. There is a nearby town which was especially created to support the cosmodrome. At first, it was named Leninsk, but in 1995 its name was changed to Baikonur.

HISTORIC SPACE MISSIONS

Many historic flights have blasted off from Baikonur:

- The first man-made satellite, Sputnik 1 (1957).
- The first spacecraft to travel close to the moon (within 5,995 km of the moon's surface), Luna 1 (1959).
- The first human space flight, Yuri Gagarin (1961).
- The first woman in space, Valentina Tereshkova (1963).

Cosmonauts from other countries, such as India and France, have also started their journey from there.

IMPORTANT FEATURES

- Baikonur's railway system is the largest industrial railway in the world. It transports spacecraft on special Schnabel cars and is also connected to the public railway of Kazakhstan.
- There is a small museum in the cosmodrome next to two small cottages where Sergey Korolev (Soviet spacecraft designer and engineer) and Yuri Gagarin used to live. These cottages are part of the museum complex. In the museum, the visitors can see a restored artefact from an old spacecraft programme. There are also photos related to cosmonauts and the cosmodrome's history. Other things visitors can see are photos which cosmonauts had signed before launching from Baikonur, items from the spacecraft they were on, Yuri Gagarin's uniform and many other important objects.

Did You Know?

The first Kazakh astronaut to visit space was Toktar Aubakirov.

B. Read again and write T for True or F for False.

1. Many important events have taken place at the Baikonur Cosmodrome.
2. The cosmodrome is close to a larger city.
3. Yuri Gagarin was the first person that travelled to space.
4. Only spacecraft are transferred by the Baikonur railway system.
5. In the museum, visitors can see objects from old spacecrafts.

Project

Find information about a spaceport in another country and present it to the class. Mention where it is, any important features it has, and any important space missions that have launched from there.

SONG

'Feel the flow'

Go to page 248.

3 ►► 34 A. Have all countries around the world got four seasons? Listen, read and check your answers.

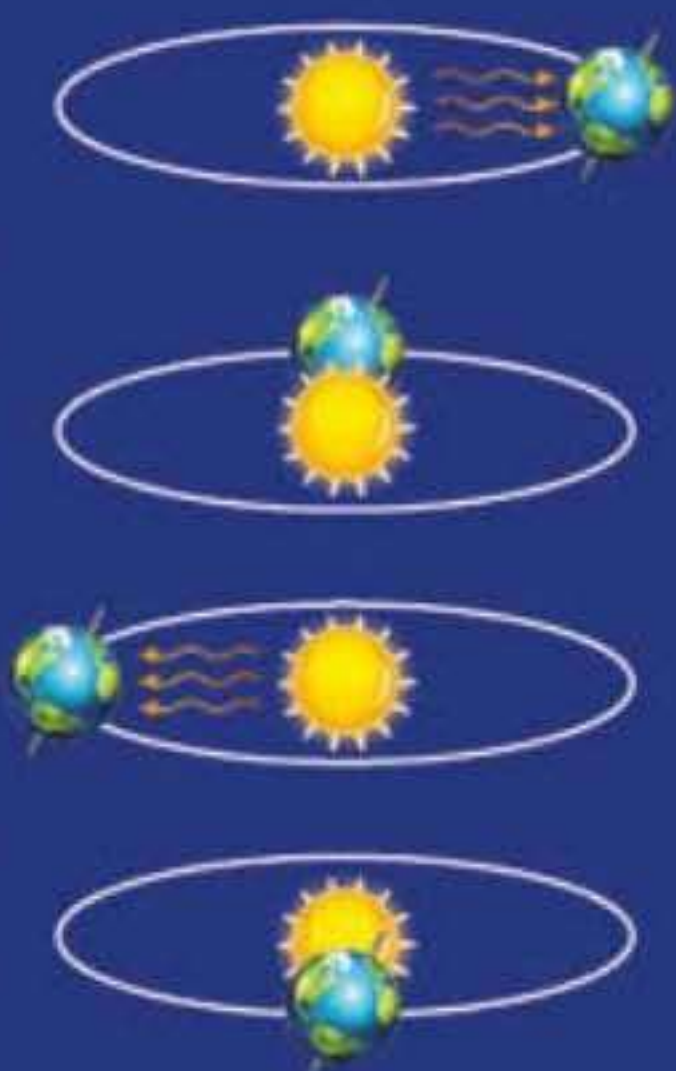

B. Now look at the highlighted words in the text and find their definitions in a dictionary.

Seasons

Why are there seasons?

The Earth rotates around an imaginary line called an axis, which is tilted at an angle of just over 23°. It also revolves around the sun, and it takes a year to make a complete orbit. Seasons result from this annual orbit and the tilt of the Earth's axis. Different parts of our planet are oriented towards the sun because of this tilt. As a result, they are more directly exposed to its rays.

Summer in both hemispheres is always warmer than winter because the rays hit the Earth at a more direct angle, and the days are longer than the nights. The opposite happens in winter when the sun's rays hit the Earth at a more extreme angle. The equator is always the warmest part on Earth because it is always closest to the sun.

- In December, the top side of the Earth is leaning away from the sun. So it's winter north of the equator and summer south of the equator.
- In March, it is spring north of the equator and autumn south of the equator.
- In June, the top side of the Earth is leaning towards the sun. So it's summer north of the equator and winter south of the equator. This means it is summer in the UK and winter in Australia.
- In September, it is autumn north of the equator and spring south of the equator.

Have all countries got four seasons?

No, they haven't. Some countries in Asia, Africa and South America are very close to the equator. These places have got two seasons – a wet and a dry season. During the dry season, it doesn't rain, but there is a lot of rain during the wet season.

C. Read again and write T for True or F for False.

1. The Earth moves around the sun every two years.
2. Summers are warmer than winters only because days are longer than nights.
3. When it's summer in Australia, the top side of the Earth is leaning towards the sun.
4. In December, it's summer south of the equator.
5. Spring is at the same time north and south of the equator.
6. Countries very close to the equator have got two seasons.

D. Discuss the following.

- ☛ Where is your country in relation to the equator?
- ☛ How does its location affect the weather/climate?

Project

Find information about your country's climate during the various seasons and write a short text about it.

Waitress: Are you ready to order?

Liv: I had a look at the menu, but I'm confused. I've got very little knowledge of Chinese food. What do you recommend?

Waitress: Well, few people can resist our Peking Duck.

Liv: Does it contain any nuts? I'm allergic to them.

Waitress: Don't worry. It doesn't have any nuts. It's crispy duck with tianmianjiang, a sweet bean sauce.

Liv: So, it isn't hot. I don't particularly like spicy food, you see.

Waitress: No, don't worry.

Liv: I'll have that, then.

Waitress: Certainly.

- Jamie Oliver: How to become a famous chef

JAMIE OLIVER
TV CHEF

While he was growing up, Jamie Oliver's parents both ran a pub in Essex, England. So he used to spend almost half of his day there. He just loved to practise cooking in the kitchen. He enjoyed cooking so much that after he finished school, he went to Westminster Catering College, where he studied to become a chef.

In 1999, he started working in The River Café, in Fulham, London, where he was noticed by the BBC. He went on to make a TV show called The Naked Chef. It was such a success that he made a cookbook of the same name, which became a bestseller. In the same year, he received an invitation to prepare lunch for the Prime Minister at 10 Downing Street.

Oliver became famous for his simple, healthy, but delicious creations. His recipes were fresh, and the style of his cooking programme was relaxed, friendly and cool. He turned food preparation and cooking into a fun activity, instead of a boring chore. He has written many cookbooks which include delicious, healthy and easy recipes so far. All of them have been a great success.

In 2005, Oliver introduced a campaign to improve school dinners in the UK. He wanted to get rid of the junk food that was served to kids and encourage them to eat fresh, healthy food. It wasn't an easy task, but eventually the campaign was a success and students' eating habits showed a great improvement. Oliver later headed to West Virginia in the USA to get Americans to start eating healthily.

He strongly believes that communities need to be informed about how important it is to eat homemade, healthy food. Hopefully, his message will spread across the world.

A. Discuss.

- What's your favourite Kazakh celebration?
- Do you enjoy celebrating Nauryz? Why / Why not?
- Which five words do you associate with Nauryz?

4 ▶▶ 07 B. If you had to describe the Nauryz celebration to a foreigner, what information would you include? Listen, read and compare your answers to the text.

THE NAURYZ CELEBRATION

In Kazakhstan, Nauryz is one of the most important celebrations of the year. It is a national holiday which starts on 21 March and lasts for three days. People celebrate the arrival of spring and the awakening of nature – the time of the year when plants and flowers start to appear after the cold winter months. Nauryz began in the Middle East and is an ancient celebration which may even date back two thousand years.

Each year people come together in town squares to enjoy the various events which have been organised for Nauryz. Cities turn into lively, crowded places where street food is sold, and live concerts and performances of Kazakh music take place. What is more, it is tradition for people to build and decorate yurts (traditional nomadic houses), and to dress in the beautiful national clothing of Kazakhstan.

Like most national holidays, food plays a major role during Nauryz. Many people get together at home and prepare a dinner table full of delicious Kazakh dishes. This includes desserts, fruits and different meats as well as boursak, a type of bread which is often served on special occasions. The most important dish of the holiday is the famous Nauryz kozhe. There are many different versions of the soup, but the traditional recipe contains seven ingredients which represent the days of the week.

These are water, milk, salt, meat, rice, cereals and flour. Each of these ingredients also represents a different aspect of life, such as happiness, health and luck. For this reason, a Nauryz celebration would certainly not be the same without a bowl of tasty Nauryz kozhe on the dinner table.

In general, people organise their Nauryz celebration with great generosity because they believe that if they celebrate well during the holiday, the next year will be successful and full of prosperity. However, Nauryz is much more than a time for celebrating and spending time with family and friends. It is also a time when people clean their homes, plant trees, and forgive others for any past mistakes.

C. Read the text and complete the sentences 1-6 with up to three words.

1. Nauryz is connected to the beginning of _____.
2. People believe that this celebration may be _____ old.
3. During Nauryz, a number of celebrations take place in the _____ of cities.
4. It is customary for people to build _____ during the holiday.
5. Nauryz kozhe is a famous holiday dish made with _____.
6. In Kazakhstan, people believe that both _____ and success will be the result of a generous Nauryz celebration.

CHURROS WITH CHOCOLATE

Ingredients

- 1 cup water
- 1/4 cup butter
- 1/4 tsp salt
- 6 tbsp sugar
- 1 cup flour
- 2 eggs and 1 egg yolk
- vegetable oil or olive oil
- 1 tsp ground cinnamon
- 200 g chocolate

Procedure

Prepare the churros:

- To make the dough, heat the water, butter, salt and 2 tablespoons of sugar in a saucepan. Stir in the flour. Beat with a spoon for about a minute until the dough forms a ball. Remove from the heat.
- Add the eggs, one by one (add egg yolk last), to the dough mixture and mix until it is smooth.
- Heat vegetable or olive oil to 180°C in a deep pan. Put the dough into a cake decorating tube with a large star tip. Carefully squeeze 7 cm strips of dough into the hot oil. Fry 3 or 4 strips at a time until they turn golden brown (3-4 minutes), turning them once. Put the churros on paper towels.
- If you want, you can cover your churros with sugar and cinnamon. To do so, mix the rest of the sugar with the cinnamon in a bag. While the churros are still warm, put them in the bag one by one and shake. Leave the churros on a plate to cool completely.

8d A taste of culture III

Prepare the chocolate:

- Heat some water in a saucepan and put a bowl over the water. Break the chocolate into small pieces and add them to the bowl. Heat until the chocolate has melted, but don't overcook it!

Enjoy!

- Dip the churros into the chocolate and enjoy or eat them plain. You can even make lots of churros and keep them in the freezer for up to three months.

CULTURAL TIP ▼

- In Spain, churros are usually dipped in hot chocolate. This is a typical Spanish breakfast.
- Churros in Spain are made without cinnamon mixed with sugar, but the cinnamon adds extra flavour.

A. Read the text and complete the fact file.

The Almaty Apple Festival is an important annual Kazakh celebration that started in 2010. It takes place on the third Sunday of September, along with other celebrations for Almaty City Day.

The word 'Almaty' means 'Fatherland of Apples', so it is no surprise that the festival takes place in this particular city. In fact, scientists have found that the wild ancestors of modern apples grow here, in the mountains of southern Kazakhstan.

The festival is hosted at the Park of the First President. Crowds of people, both young and old, gather to enjoy the various activities being offered in different corners of the park, such as competitions, workshops, art exhibitions, concerts and sports events. In recent years, more than 30 farms bring about 150 tonnes of apples from 26 varieties for visitors to try and buy if they want to. Market stalls sell a wide choice of pies, jams and juices, all made with local apples. In the evening, the festivities end with fireworks shows in different parts of the city, including at Kok-Tobe Hill, the highest point in the city.

The Almaty Apple Festival is a wonderful celebration and it's a great time for families to spend a day of fun together.

4 ►► 15 A. Listen, read and answer the questions.

Kazakh cuisine!

A.

This is the national dish of Kazakhstan. It's a great honour to be invited to someone's house to eat it. Traditionally, it is made with boiled horse meat and it is usually served over boiled pasta which is covered in onion broth called 'sorpa'. However, nowadays lamb is also used instead of horse meat, and you can taste this delicious dish in Kazakh bowls called 'kesse'. In 2015, the largest serving of this dish was prepared in order to celebrate Capital Day!

B.

Believe it or not, you only need some flour, salt, yeast, milk, eggs and water to make this Kazakh dish! It is fried bread usually in the shape of a circle, it is easy to make, and it can be found on a 'dastarkhan' (a traditional Kazakh table) on special occasions. The meaning behind this bread is especially important as it is believed that, while frying the bread, the smell of oil floats into the sky so that you can share your happiness with your dead loved ones.

C.

The main ingredient in this Kazakh national dish is meat. A lot of meat! Usually people use lamb that is marinated in cream or milk. Lamb fat is used to cover the bottom of the 'kazan' (deep pan), so that the meat doesn't burn. The meat is cooked together with onions, greens, garlic, salt, pepper and bay leaves. Some people add vegetables like potatoes, carrots, peppers and cabbage. This simple but flavourful, rich dish was invented in the Kazakh steppes.

D.

This traditional stew is a Kazakh, Kyrgyz, Uzbek and Turkmen dish made with onions and lamb or beef. The name comes from the word 'kuyru', which means 'to fry'. The Kazakh version of the dish is usually made with lamb kidneys, liver, lungs, etc. In modern Kazakh cuisine, vegetables such as potatoes, carrots and pumpkin are also added. Sometimes poultry and 'kazy' (horse meat sausage) are included too. It's really easy to make this dish: first you fry the meat, and then you cut the potatoes into cubes and throw them in.

1. What is a 'kesse'?
2. How many ingredients does dish B need?
3. Which dish is eaten outside Kazakhstan as well?
4. What is a 'dastarkhan'?
5. Which dish is made without meat?
6. Which dishes include vegetables?

B. Now look at the pictures, read the texts again and write the name of each Kazakh dish in the box.

Project

Find information about a traditional dish from another country and present it to the class. Mention what it's called, what the ingredients are, how it's cooked and when it's traditionally eaten.

4 ►► 16 A. How long do you think a person can survive without drinking any water? What about animals? Listen, read and check your answers.

B. Now look at the highlighted words in the text and find their definitions in a dictionary.

Why is water important?

Without water it is impossible for people, animals and plants to survive. Our bodies are over 60% water, our brains around 75% and our blood more than 80%. For this reason, the human body needs water to work properly. Water keeps us hydrated, keeps our cells and organs healthy, controls our body temperature, and removes toxins from our body.

We get water from the food that we eat and the liquids that we drink. At the same time, our bodies lose between four and ten glasses of water every day. When this is not replaced, we can become dehydrated. Mild dehydration can make us feel tired and give us a headache. Severe dehydration can be very serious and can even result in death.

How long can a person survive without drinking any water?

Not more than a week. However, this depends on the conditions and the environment (e.g. think about your drinking needs during a hot, dry summer and during a mild winter).

This is different for animals. For example, giraffes can survive for weeks without drinking any water, and certain species of snakes can survive for months.

Where does our drinking water come from?

Water covers around 75% of the Earth's surface. About 97% of this is salt water. Since drinking salty water is harmful to our health, this water is not available for us to drink. To survive, people need to drink fresh water. Did you know that only 3% of water on Earth is fresh water? And as much as 2/3 of this is frozen in the polar ice caps and glaciers.

Amazingly, this leaves just 1% available in ground water, streams, lakes and rivers which we can use for our drinking water and for growing the food that we eat. Perhaps even more amazing is the fact that all 7.5 billion people living on the planet share this tiny amount of water.

C. Read the text and answer the questions.

- List two of the ways water helps your body to work properly.

4 ►► 19 A. Below is a comic strip. Listen, read and choose the best title a, b or c.

- a. Thieves at the Art Gallery
- b. A Clever Hiding Place
- c. The Mysterious Painting

Gary Bloom, the famous artist, was very excited about his exhibition. However, just before the opening, someone stole one of his paintings which was worth over one million euros. The owner of the gallery needed help, so he called his old friend, Inspector Thomas Bishop to investigate.

Harry Knight, the security guard, was watching the front door. Nobody came in or out. By the way, today is his first day on the job.

Gary Bloom was in the hall of the gallery with his sister. They were arguing about a painting he didn't want to sell.

Mrs Appleby, the cleaner, was hoovering in the next room. She didn't see anyone come in.

Alan Jones, the owner of the gallery, was in his office. He was talking on the phone to Bloom's agent about prices for the paintings.

9a Detective work III

OK, that's enough. Bring them all into this room.

Don't you want to interview anyone?

No need.

Which one of them did it, sir?

Mrs Appleby, can I take a look at your Hoover?

Well, well, well... It's not empty. What do we have in here?

Arrest her, Griffin.

Certainly sir. But how did you know?

Isn't it obvious? Look at the floor. It's filthy! And that is a brand new Hoover.

Of course! The Hoover wasn't working properly because of the painting.

Well, that's cleaned up that mystery!

B. Read again and answer the questions.

1. When was the painting stolen?
2. How much was the painting worth?
3. What's the relationship between Alan Jones and Inspector Bishop?
4. How many people were in the gallery at the time of the theft?
5. When did Harry Knight start working at the gallery?
6. Why didn't Inspector Bishop want to interview anyone?
7. What did they find in the Hoover?
8. How did Inspector Bishop find out who the thief was?

Bill I think we can manage by ourselves.

Liv OK.

Stu Actually, can you turn that music off? I can't hear myself think.

Liv I'll turn the volume down a bit.

Bill Can you turn the light on? We need more light in here.

Liv I can't right now. I'm reading my magazine.

Stu OK, I'll do it.

Bill Right, let's read the instructions.

Stu I can't be bothered. How difficult can it be to put together a bedside table?

Bill You're right. It's a piece of cake. You just join these bits of wood together.

Stu OK, here are the screws.

Liv Boys, I think you're missing something.

Stu Leave it to us, Liv.

Bill Yeah, you just read your silly magazine.

Liv Whatever you say.

Bill This can't be right. There are four holes on the top.

Stu It's probably upside down. Let's turn it over.

Bill Isn't it supposed to move around?

Stu Don't push it like that. You'll scratch it!

Liv Maybe those holes are where you attach the wheels.

Stu She has a point.

Bill Wheels? What wheels?

Liv Take a look in the box.

Bill Thanks, Liv. How did you know it needed wheels?

Liv Because I'm clever. And there's an advert for it here, in my silly magazine.

Hi, everyone! I'd really like some advice. Perhaps some of you have been in this situation before. I've just been hired by a big company, and I share an office with my team. That's seven other employees! With so many people in one room, it's impossible to get any work done. I work full-time, and now I'm working extra hours every day to catch up, but I'm still behind. What should I do?

Gina99

Oh no. I think the only thing you can do is ask your colleagues to be quiet. :/ Or... if I were you, I'd do what I did at my job last week - quit!

Killer_whale

Don't give up so easily. I'm sure you could solve your problem if you had a word with your employer. Perhaps if you explained that you can't work, he or she would move you somewhere quieter.

Hi, I need some advice. I've always liked my job and the salary is very good, but I'm having a problem with one of my colleagues. We work together, so we each have certain tasks to do. The problem is, he is ALWAYS behind with his work - so, guess who ends up doing it? 🙄
I don't want to tell our employer, because I don't want to get him fired, but I'm out of ideas. What would you guys do?

office_cat86

Does he know you have a problem? I had a colleague like that once, and he just didn't realise what was going on. I think that if you made your colleague do his own work, you could help him understand how difficult he is making things for you.

Thewhat27

Why ARE you doing his work? As an employer myself, I think you should let your employer know who isn't doing their share. Perhaps, if you just didn't help your colleague, your employer would find out on their own.

- Would you like to volunteer at a local charity organisation? Why / Why not?

2 Read

4 ▶▶ 24 A. Look at the title of the text. What do you think Médecins Sans Frontières does to help people? Listen, read and find out.

MEDECINS SANS FRONTIERES
DOCTORS WITHOUT BORDERS

Médecins Sans Frontières (MSF) is an international volunteer organisation which offers medical help in times of emergency, like epidemics, and after natural disasters. MSF is a non-governmental organisation and relies on donations and fundraising events to raise money.

In 1971, a small group of French doctors were working in Nigeria. They believed that all people had a right to medical care, and MSF was born. In 1999, MSF won the Nobel Peace Prize. Today it has over 30,000 doctors and nurses helping people in about 70 countries.

MSF volunteers travel all over the world, even to places they've never heard of, to help people in need. They provide help to many countries that don't have enough doctors or money to care for ill people. Apart from that, they inform people about health dangers and educate them on how to deal with health problems.

I've been a volunteer for thirteen years. I've travelled to many parts of the world, but I've spent most of my time in Africa. The situation in many countries there is very bad and some are in the middle of brutal civil wars. Sometimes we're shocked by the events. I wish there weren't any wars. There are lots of communities that need our help. It's a tough job, but we try to do our best. We treat patients with illnesses or injuries, but there are just too many. I wish we could help everyone. It's extremely hard work, but in the end I think it's worth the effort. You know, it amazes me how strong people are and how they can still go around with smiles on their faces.

- b. make a suggestion
- c. express enthusiasm

B. Now read the email that Tony has written to Peter and underline the sentences that correspond to his notes.

Hi Peter,

Congratulations! That's wonderful news. I wasn't at all surprised to hear that you won first prize. You take beautiful pictures.

By the way, what are you thinking of doing with the €500? Are you going to buy a new camera for your hobby or do something else? Anyway, about that other competition you're going to enter, can you send me some details? I'd like to know exactly when and where it's taking place because I'm thinking of entering, too. Yes, I've improved quite a bit, so I want to see if I can win anything. As for the topic of adventure, here's my idea. Why don't you take pictures of people doing different extreme sports, like bungee jumping or hang-gliding? Wouldn't that be nice and adventurous?

I'll let you know if I come up with anything else. Write back soon.

Take care,
Tony

Shokan Ualikhanov

Shokan Ualikhanov was a famous Kazakh explorer, scientist and writer. He was born in 1835 and lived in a yurt while he was growing up. Ualikhanov led many expeditions, but the one that gave him international fame was the 1858-59 expedition to Kashgar (a Chinese city on the border of Kazakhstan and China). Incredibly, Ualikhanov crossed the border and made his way from Kazakhstan into China with over 40 men, 65 horses and around 100 camels, without anybody noticing them. According to the history books, he managed this because he was cleverly disguised as a merchant. While Ualikhanov was in Kashgar, he drew maps of the area, and researched the local customs, traditions and languages. At the time, the rest of the world knew very little about this mysterious destination, so the information Ualikhanov gathered was very important. Unfortunately, Ualikhanov died in 1865 at the age of 29. Although his life was short, Shokan Ualikhanov achieved a lot and will always be remembered as a heroic nineteenth-century explorer.

Abai Kunanbai

Abai Kunanbai (1845-1904), the great Kazakh philosopher and poet, is one of the most important people in the cultural history of Kazakhstan. Abai was born in the east of the country.

He went to a religious school called a madrasah and was also educated in a Russian school. One of his most recognised works is The Book of Words. It includes a series of beautiful poems and writings which express Abai's ideas about life. As he was able to speak a number of different languages, Abai also translated Russian and European writings and poetry into Kazakh. Today people consider Abai Kunanbai the founder of modern Kazakh literature. There are many statues of him across the country and there is also a city - Abay - named after him, which show his important place in the history of Kazakhstan.

B. Read again and answer questions 1-5. Choose a, b or c.

1. As a result of his expedition to Kashgar, Shokan Ualikhanov
 - a. received a lot of bad attention from others.
 - b. changed his career.
 - c. became famous around the world.
2. Apart from creating maps of the area, what else did Shokan Ualikhanov do when he was in Kashgar?
 - a. He learnt the local language.
 - b. He studied the culture.
 - c. He bought and sold different products.
3. According to the text, what is one of the things that people will remember Shokan Ualikhanov for?
 - a. being a courageous traveller
 - b. taking unnecessary risks
 - c. being a great explorer of the 1800s
4. The Book of Words is one of Abai Kunanbai's
 - a. most well-known works.
 - b. earliest writings.
 - c. works people don't understand.
5. According to the text, what is true of Abai Kunanbai?
 - a. He grew up in Russia.
 - b. There is a statue of him in every city in Kazakhstan.

Project

Find information about a noteworthy person in another country and present it to the class. Mention his/her name, what he/she is known for, and any important information about his/her life.

SONG'Boys or Girls?'

Go to page 249.

A. Quickly read through the job quiz and then find the definitions of the highlighted words in a dictionary.

B. Do the quiz, find out your score and then discuss the results.

What's the right career choice for me?

1 What is the first thing you think of doing when you have some free time?

- a. helping a friend or family member
- b. solving puzzles or problems
- c. building or fixing things

2 Which statement describes you the best?

- a. I'm patient and caring.
- b. I'm curious about the world and how it works.
- c. I'm very creative.

3 What is more satisfying for you?

- a. interacting and socialising with people
- b. having quiet time to concentrate on researching things that interest me
- c. using my hands and tools to make things

4 Your teacher has suggested that you take part in a work experience placement. Where do you decide to go?

- a. a charity for homeless people
- b. a university science lab
- c. a graphic design company

5 What feels more natural to you?

- a. working as part of a team and sharing ideas
- b. working alone
- c. working outdoors

- 6 What are you naturally good at?
- I have excellent communication skills.
 - I am very good at maths and science.
 - I am good at using my imagination.

Mostly as

Since you care a lot about other people, a career where you help to improve the lives of others may be the right choice for you. You are a 'people person' and work best in environments where you can interact with people. You might enjoy a career in healthcare, such as working as a doctor or nurse. You could also think about helping people with special needs, working for a charity or following a career in education.

Mostly bs

You are a problem solver, so you like to think about things in a logical way and enjoy working on your own. You might be well suited to a career in science or research, where you can look at some of the big problems the planet has to deal with. Or why not consider a career as an engineer or a bank employee?

Mostly Cs

You like working with your hands and have lots of creative talent. Think of what your interests are and you'll realise that there are many career options available to you. You might enjoy becoming a graphic or fashion designer, a landscape gardener, a mechanic or a chef.

C. Discuss the following.

- ☞ What kind of career do you see yourself having in the future? Why?
- ☞ How do you think young people can discover what career is right for them?

Project

Think of your dream job. Find information about the skills and qualities you need to do this job, and present it to the class.

B. Read the text about Lake Titicaca and answer Student A's questions.

Lake Titicaca lies between Peru and Bolivia and it is the second largest lake in South America. It is high in the Andes mountain range and at 3,810 m, it is one of the highest lakes in the world. It is 281 m deep at its deepest point and the maximum length is 190 km. The name Titicaca comes from the Quechua and Aymara languages. 'Titi' means puma and 'caca' means rock, 'puma rock'. The name probably comes from the fact that the lake is shaped like a puma which is hunting.

4a Speak & Write

Student A

Imagine you're organising a night out. Invite your partner, make suggestions about where you can go and what you can do, and make arrangements about when and where to meet. Use phrases like:

Work in small groups. Think of a show or make one up. Think of things to say about it and advertise it to your classmates. Use the questions below:

- When was it first produced?
- Which places has it toured so far?
- What age group is the show for?
- What is it about?
- How have audiences responded?
- Where can you get tickets?
- How much are they?

7a Speak

Talk in pairs. Interview your partner about his/her last holiday. Note down his/her answers. Then report them to the class.

Where did you travel to on your last holiday?

Who did you go with?

What did you do there?

Did you have fun?

Will you go again?

What are your plans for next summer?

Maria said she had travelled to Italy the previous summer.

7e Role Play

Look at the holiday advertisement.

Student A

You work for Tomkins Travel Agency and know all about the holiday breaks at Margarita Island. Answer Student B's questions.

8a Speak

Act out one or two of the conversations. Don't forget to use phrases/expressions you have learnt.

Student A: You want to go to a vegetarian restaurant and decide to invite Student B to come with you. He/She is a meat eater. Try to persuade him/her to come along.

Student B: Student A invites you to a vegetarian restaurant but you don't really want to go because you are a meat eater. Discuss with Student A.

Student A: You want to make a reservation at a Mexican restaurant. Call and give all the necessary information.

Student B: You are a host/hostess at a Mexican restaurant. Student A wants to make a reservation. Answer the phone and help him/her.

Student A: You are at a restaurant and are looking at the menu. You don't like spicy food and don't know what the dishes contain. Ask the waiter/waitress (Student B) to help you decide what to order.

Student B: You are a waiter/waitress at a restaurant. Student A is a customer but is confused by the menu. Help him/her decide what to order by recommending certain dishes.

9C Speak

Student A

Choose one of the situations below. Describe your problem to Student B, say how you feel and ask him/her for advice. Use some of the expressions given. Then swap roles.

Your best friend copies your homework all the time.

Your best friend is having a birthday party, but your employer has offered to pay you extra to work that day.

You and your best friend both work part-time at a fast food restaurant. He/She pretended to be ill because he/she didn't want to go to work, and now he/she is asking you to lie to your employer.

Your best friend borrows things all the time, and never gives them back.

One of your colleagues always wants to hang out with you after work, but you think he/she is annoying.

Your best friend made his/her own T-shirt, and thinks it's really cool. You think it looks ridiculous.

The problem is...

I've got a problem with...

I feel...

Can you please give me some advice?

What should I do?

What would you do if you were me?

Student B

Listen to Student A's problem and give him/her advice. Use some of the expressions given. Then swap roles.

I think you should/shouldn't...

If I were you, I'd...

It would be a good idea to...

Don't worry, we'll think of something.

Everything will be fine.

Learning Tips III

In class - How to learn better in class

- Look at your teacher and the board and take notes.
- Listen carefully to your teacher and the recordings.
- Ask your teacher when you don't understand.
- Speak in English as much as possible.
- Take part in pair and group work activities.

Outside the class - How to learn better outside the class

- Read the dialogues and texts from your book and listen to your recordings.
- Read the dialogues and texts aloud and sometimes record yourself.
- Study the vocabulary and grammar and then do your homework.
- Read selected texts from English magazines and newspapers.
- Read English websites
- Listen to English songs.
- Watch English TV programmes and DVDs.

Vocabulary - How to learn vocabulary better

- Write down new words in a notebook. Together with the English word, write the translation in your language, write an example sentence, draw or stick a picture.
- Put words in groups or use diagrams.
- Learn whole phrases (e.g. verb+noun) not just isolated words.
- Learn new words in context (in sentences describing situations). This way, it is easier to remember them.
- When you learn new words, you must remember if they are verbs, nouns, adjectives, etc.
- When you learn new words, it's a good idea to learn any synonyms and/or opposites.
- Refer to the Word list.
- Practise the spelling and pronunciation of new words.
- Look up unknown words in a dictionary.
- Regularly revise words you have learnt.
- Try to use words you have recently learnt when you speak or write.

Grammar - How to learn grammar better

- Refer to the Grammar Section.
- Use grammar tables.
- Have a grammar notebook. In it, write tips and/or rules in your language, example sentences and important grammatical points e.g. irregular verbs.
- Make a note of grammatical errors that you often make.

Speak - How to do better when doing speaking tasks

- Before you speak, make sure you understand the task and how you should use the prompts.
- Look at the example and use the prompts given.
- Use the vocabulary and the structures you have learnt.
- Don't be afraid to make mistakes when you speak.
- Speak only in English.
- When talking to another person, listen carefully to him/her and respond to what he/she is saying. Also, show interest or surprise by using phrases like Really?, Did you?, etc.

Read - How to do better when doing reading tasks

- Before you read, try to predict what the text is about with the help of the title and the pictures.
- Look for key words in the text to understand the main ideas.
- Try to guess the meaning of unknown words. Use the following strategies: read the words before and after the unknown words and think of the context; try to figure out if the unknown word is a verb, noun, etc.; see if the unknown word is similar to other words in English or in your own language.
- Read the text quickly to understand the main idea.
- Read the text carefully to understand specific details.
- Decide in which part of the text you can find the information you need.
- Make sure you understand who or what the pronouns he, it, this, them, etc. and the adverbs here, there, etc. refer to in the text.
- When completing a text with missing sentences, read the whole text first and then the sentences given. Pay special attention to the vocabulary, pronouns (e.g. it, they, this) and words/phrases which link sentences (e.g. however, later) both in the text and in the sentences given.

Listen - How to do better when doing listening tasks

- Before you listen, read the rubric carefully and look at the pictures. Try to predict what the speakers are going to talk about.
- Before you listen, read the statements or questions carefully. This will give you an idea of what to listen for.
- While listening for gist, try to understand the general idea, not every single word.
- Listen for key words to understand the main ideas.
- While listening, don't assume that an answer is correct just because the speakers mention a word that is in the activity. Listen carefully before you answer.
- When completing sentences, make sure that your answers make sense with the rest of the sentence.
- Don't be in a hurry to answer a multiple-choice question. Listen carefully till the end and check all the options before your final decision.

Write - How to do better when doing writing tasks

- Make sure you understand the rubric and what you are asked to write.
- Plan your writing and make notes before you write.
- Plan your paragraphs. Before you start, think of the ideas you are going to include in each paragraph.
- Group relevant information together and put it in the same paragraph.
- Do not write very short sentences. Join your ideas with linking words (and, but, or, so and because).
- Use linking words/phrases to add something (e.g. also), to express contrast (e.g. however), to express result (e.g. as a result) and to give reason (e.g. that's why). This will make your writing flow.
- Use time linkers (e.g. first, next, then) to show the order in which events happen.
- Use a variety of adjectives (e.g. fascinating) and adverbs / adverbial phrases (e.g. luckily, all of a sudden) in your writing to make it more interesting.
- Use words like he, she, it, them, etc. to avoid repeating the same words.
- When you are asked to write a letter, try to understand why you are writing. Also, think carefully about your relationship with the person you are writing to and write in an appropriate style (formal or informal). Remember to use set phrases in the opening and the closing paragraph.
- Write your first draft and correct it. Then write your final draft.
- Write neatly.
- Edit your writing. Check punctuation, capital letters, word order, spelling, grammar, vocabulary and linking words.

Project Skills III

step 1

BRAINSTORM

- Think of the topic carefully and create a mind map to help you come up with ideas or words related to the topic.

step 2

PLAN

- Decide which of the ideas in Step 1 you would like to include in your project and make a plan to use as a general guide.

step 3

RESEARCH

- Do research on the topic. Read books, use the Internet, watch videos or documentaries or even visit a museum.
- Note down key words and important information you have found. Remember: you mustn't copy the information. Use your own words to summarise the ideas.

step 4

CREATE

- When you have collected all the information, start working on your project.
- Make your project interesting. Think of a title and find pictures or draw your own.
- You can also write captions underneath the pictures to describe them.

PROOFREAD

- After you finish, proofread your work.
- Make sure you have included all the information and ideas you chose in your project.
- Check your spelling, grammar, vocabulary, etc.

step 6

PRESENT

A presentation consists of 3 stages:

Stage 1: Before the presentation

- Practise presenting your work in front of a mirror or to a friend. This will help you feel more confident.

Stage 2: During the presentation

- First, introduce the topic. (I would like to talk about... / I am going to talk about...)
- Use short and simple sentences.
- Speak clearly and confidently.
- Smile at the people in the audience (your classmates) and make eye contact.

Stage 3: After the presentation

- Ask the audience if they have any questions and try to answer their questions. (Any questions?)
- Don't forget to thank the audience. (Thank you for your attention.)

TIP!

Use the following checklist with the things you need to do. Tick (✓) the boxes when you do them.

PROJECT CHECKLIST

- mind map
- plan
- research
- key words
- paragraph/text
- title
- pictures and captions
